The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

The following Advices we have by Captain Mitchell from Londonderry, viz.

LEIPSIC, April 6.

IT is looked upon as certain, that Prince Henry will take the command of the army in Saxony, while his Pruſſian Majeſty acts in Sileſia; as the principal object of the preſent campaign is to determine to whom that province ſhall belong.

Turin, March 28. We continue with equal vivacity and ſucceſs to recruit his Majeſty's forces. The military preparations of the courts of Madrid and Naples are too public to be diſſembled; but it is hoped, that a wiſe and prudent negotiation will diſſipate theſe clouds, and prevent Italy from feeling ſuch ſtorms as have already deſolated Germany.

Prague, April 3. Marſhal Daun is preparing, with the greateſt Diligence, to take the field. The Pruſſians, on the other hand, are ſucceſſively filing off regiments towards Luſatia. The troops they have between Meiſſen and Leipſic are ſaid to amount to 100,000 men; and 25,000 more extend themſelves from Frieberg to Thuringia. Nevertheleſs, they are entrenching near Meiſſen and Frieberg: The old works are repairing, and new epaulements erecting. From theſe and ſome other ſteps we infer, that they will act on the defenſive in Saxony; and that when it is leaſt expected, the King will march with his whole army towards Sileſia. For this reaſon Marſhal Daun hath draughted a ſelect body from his army, which he hath cauſed to advance as near as poſſible to Meiſſen, to obſerve the enemy's motions.

Altena, April 7. It is confidently ſaid the King of Pruſſia's forces this year will amount to 148,000 men, excluſive of garriſons, and priſoners of War.

The head-quarters of the Ruſſian army are ſtill at Marienbourg; but from the meaſures which Field-Marſhal Butterlin is taking, it is viſible that he will ſoon begin his operations. It is ſuppoſed that the Ruſſians will act chiefly in Pomerania, and on the frontiers of Sileſia, as they are forming much larger magazines in thoſe Parts than they had laſt year.

Hamburgh, April 14. Several private letters from Saxony adviſe, that the King of Pruſſia had then his head-quarters at Schlettau, a ſmall town not far from Meiſſen, and that his Majeſty had detached ſome regiments of horſe and foot by the road of Torgau to Sileſia, where in all probability the principal ſcene of operations will be this campaign. It is pretended that his Pruſſian Majeſty will command there in perſon, and leave his army in Saxony under the command of his brother Prince Henry, to act on the defenſive.

We have received advice that the Swedes have again taken the fort of Swinnemunde.

Naples, March 17. The rumour of the Turkiſh armaments not only continues, but daily gains more credit; therefore the Malteze continue to labour diligently to put themſelves in a poſture of defence. Among other meaſures taken, they have reſolved to bring 6000 ſoldiers into the city of Malta. They have ſtopt there 15 tartans laden with wheat for Genoa, and, after paying the value thereof, and the freight, the corn has been laid up in the Government's magazines. Circular letters have been diſpatched to all the Knights, ordering them to keep in readineſs to repair to the iſland on the firſt notice; but none but ſuch as are fit for ſervice or a command will be ſent for.

Peterſburgh, March 18. M. Schumacker, who is charged with the affairs of Denmark at this Court, ſent away an expreſs the 16th inſt. to Copenhagen, with diſpatches which are ſaid to be of the utmoſt importance, nothing leſs, it ſeems, than certain conditions upon which the Empreſs our Sovereign might be willing to lend a hand towards the work of peace; and we are further told, that one of the principal articles is to procure the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, proper amends for the loſſes and damages his Electoral dominions have ſuffered, and ſtill do ſuffer, by the preſent war.

But however her Imperial Majeſty may be diſpoſed to contribute, as far as lies in her power, to the ſpeedy reſtoration of peace, ſhe has nevertheleſs ſent orders to Field-Marſhal Butterlin to begin forthwith the plan of operations ſettled for this campaign, and thereby give more weight to the pacific negotiations actually on the tapis. To this end his Excellency is to detach a conſiderable body of troops from his army towards the frontiers of Sileſia, that they may be at hand to ſupport, in caſe of need, the Auſtrian corps deſtined to act in that province.

Berlin, April. 7. The court hath publiſhed the following account of an action on the 2d inſtant, near Saalfeld, between a body of forces under Major-Generals Schenckendorf and Sybourg, and a body of Auſtrians, and of the troops of the Empire.

On the firſt of April, Major-General Schenckendorff marched with his troops from Gera, where he had his winter-quarters, and the ſame day advanced towards Neuſtadt, on the Otla. Being joined there by the corps under Major-General Sybourg, he proceeded, on the 2d, ſtraight to Saalfeld, where his vanguard, compoſed of ſome ſquadrons of Ziethen's huſſars, commanded by Major Hundt, attacked, on the heights behind the village of Gornſdoff, the Auſtrians and troops of the Empire under Major-General Kleiſt. Our people were ſaluted by a briſk diſcharge of cannon; nevertheleſs the brave Major Hundt did not relinquiſh his deſign; he climbed up the heights with two of his ſquadrons, and whilſt the three others filed off through Saalfeld, he fell ſo briſkly, ſword in hand, on the enemy's right flank, that he broke their infantry, made great ſlaughter, and took four pieces of cannon, twelve pounders, with two pair of colours. Twenty officers, and 800 private men, were on this occaſion made priſoners.

On the other hand, Major Prittwitz, who led the van of Major-General Sybourg's brigade, and who had marched by Rudolſtadt, attacked two of the enemy's battalions in the village of Schwarte, who made vain efforts to defend that important poſt. The battalion of Loſſow's grenadiers, and Luderitz's independent battalion, carrying the field artillery to the heights beyond the village, pointed them ſo well, that on the 5th diſcharge the enemy abandoned that important poſt; which Major Prittwitz perceiving, he croſſed the rivulet of Schwariz with his huſſars, purſued the enemy, took three colours, the ſame Number of cannon, and made one whole battalion priſoners.

This affair, the honour of which chiefly belongs to Ziethen's huſſars, coſt the enemy ſeven pieces of cannon, ſix colours, five covered waggons with powder, and ſeveral baggage waggons, among which were thoſe of Major-General Kleiſt. We alſo took 32 officers, of which number was one colonel, two majors, and eight captains, and 1100 private men.

April 9. We are aſſured, that as ſoon as the King was informed of the advantage which a body of his troops, commanded by the Generals Schenckendorff and Sybourg, gained the 2d inſtant near Saalfeld, over part of the army of the Empire, and a few Auſtrian regiments, he ordered thoſe two Generals to march in all haſte towards Heſſia, and make a diverſion in favour of the Allies, whom the ſuperior forces of the French obliged to raiſe the ſiege of Caſſel, and retire behind the Dymel. The troops actually marching to the Werra, under the ſaid two Generals, are computed to be about 12000 ſtrong.

Prince Henry's field equipages are actually going to Saxony, ſo that there is no doubt of his Royal Highneſs's commanding in that Electorate this campaign; conſequently, his Majeſty will march to Sileſia with the major part of his forces, in order to face the Auſtrians and Ruſſians.

Hanover, April 10. The Marquis of Granby's departure for England, and the inaction of the two armies, occaſioned the general rumour of a ſuſpenſion of arms; but there is nothing in it. If the troops remain inactive, and are obliged to go into quarters of cantonment, it is becauſe the country is bare of proviſions and forage. Near 2000 of our horſes have periſhed within this fortnight. The magazines on both ſides are but ſlenderly provided, by reaſon of the pains taken by each party to diſtreſs their adverſary in this article. The places adjacent to the two armies are filled with ſick and wounded, and for want of proper accommodations, many more of them die than recover.

Madrid, April 7. Two ſquadrons are fitting out, one for the Havannah, another for a ſecret expedition. An army is alſo aſſembling.

Chamberry, March 28. The news of an approaching congreſs being communicated to our King, his Majeſty ſent couriers to ſeveral courts with diſpatches relative to the affairs of Italy. The courier ſent to England is returned with a favourable anſwer. His Majeſty will no doubt obtain all he aſks, if, at the enſuing congreſs, his claims are ſupported by England and his allies.

Leghorn, April 3. The Britiſh Conſul is buying up ſalt fiſh for the Uſe of an Engliſh ſquadron which is expected in the Mediterranean.

Dreſden, April 2. The King of Pruſſia's camp is ſurrounded with impregnable works. One would imagine his Majeſty intended to ſtay in it all the ſummer.

Vienna, April 11. All our regiments of horſe and foot are complete. Some regiments have even ſupernumeraries. But it was not without great difficulty that we got a ſufficient number of horſes for the train.

The warlike preparations making in Turkey againſt the Malteze, ſeem to be no jeſting matter; it is even reported that the Grand Signor has already declared war againſt them.

Hamburgh, April 17. Letters from the frontiers of Poland adviſe, that a great magazine was forming in Poſnania for the Ruſſian army, which was ſaid to be again advancing towards Sileſia. A camp is marked out near Croſſen for 15,000 Pruſſians.

It is reported here, that the exchange of the Dutchy of Holſtein for the counties of Oldembourgh and Delmenhurſt is in a manner agreed upon, and that the King of Denmark, and the Great Prince of Ruſſia, will ſhortly conclude a ſolemn treaty for that purpoſe.

Mentz, April 20. Since the late bruſhes between the troops of the Empire and the Pruſſians, above 600 men of our Elector's contingent have deſerted all at once from the army of the Empire.

Paris, April 17. If the Engliſh intend that the congreſs ſhould have any effect, no mention muſt be made of the demolition of the fortifications of Dunkirk, to which the King will never agree.

April 19. Marſhal Broglio's Army will conſiſt of 78,000 men, and Soubiſe's of 100,000.

Hague, April 21. We hear that the troops of his Pruſſian Majeſty have gained another advantage over part of the army of the Empire. On the 6th inſt. a detachment of the former attacked the corps under Gen. Guaſco near Plauen, in the Voigtland, took 1 Colonel, 8 other officers, with about 150 men, and 4 pieces of cannon, and all their baggage. The Pruſſians loſt, on this occaſion, only Major Hundt of Ziethen's huſſars, a lieutenant, and 30 men.

Paris, April 17. The 14th, at ten at night, an expreſs arrived at Verſailles with a letter from Brigadier St. Croix, who commands at Belleiſle, to inform the King of a conſiderable advantage gained on the 8th inſt. over the Engliſh. The Brigadier ſays, in his letter, that the Engliſh, conſiſting of 115 ſail, anchored on the 7th in the road of Belleiſle, and next day made their diſpoſitions for an attack; that perceiving the enemy's flat bottomed boats ſteer towards Port Andro, he immediately ſent thither the greateſt part of his troops; that the Engliſh landed there, but met with a warm reception, and were repulſed with the loſs of about 800 men, moſtly grenadiers; beſides above 300, who were made priſoners; among whom are 17 officers, particularly Lieut. Col. Thomas, and Major Macklin, who commanded the attack.

Hague, April 26. By letters from Weſel, an account has been received here, that on Monday laſt, the 21ſt inſtant, a large magazine of hay, which the French had collected at that place, had taken fire, and that there were conſumed 1250,000 rations. The loſs is computed at 2,000000 of livres. Thirty-two ſoldiers of the regiment of Normandy periſhed in the flames. And the number of boats burnt and ſunk is ſaid to amount to 60. When the poſt left Weſel on the 21ſt, the danger was not thought to be quite over; and it was feared the flames would reach another magazine above the town.

LONDON, APRIL 16.

Yeſterday morning Major-General Douglas ſet out for Graveſend, in order to embark a large body of cavalry for Germany.

By a letter from the Eaſt-Indies, by way of Conſtantinople, there is advice, that the crew of the Denhan Indiaman, after having burnt her, retired into Fort Marlborough, and defended the place with great bravery; but being overpowered by numbers, were obliged to ſurrender: However, they were ſo fortunate as to have removed great part of their beſt effects up into the country, and ſome they had put on board Dutch ſhips, and ſent to Batavia.

The Briſtol Packet, Bartlett, is arrived at Briſtol from Boſton, in 28 days.

The armament fitted out under the command of Commodore Keppel is, in reſpect to land forces, the greateſt that has been out this war.

We hear the French frigate lately taken by the Albany ſloop, Capt. Brograve, is 24 feet longer, a much ſtronger ſhip than the Albany, and is capable of making a fine 22 gun ſhip for his Majeſty's ſervice.-----It reflects honour on the nation in general, and on our ſea officers and ſailors in particular, when we ſee the enemy afraid of engaging with an inferior force, and throwing their guns overboard, in hopes of eſcaping by ignominious flight.

Extract of a Letter from Vienna, March 28.

"The plan of operations for the enſuing campaign is entirely ſettled. Marſhal Daun, who commands the army in Saxony, will have only about 80,000 men, to defend Saxony and the paſſes into Bohemia; which, it is aſſured, the enemy will attempt to invade. As this army conſiſts at preſent of 92000, 6000 horſe, and the ſame number of foot, will draw near Prague; where, with the troops that are already in that neighbourhood, they will form an army of 20,000 men, deſtined to enter Sileſia, beſiege ſome fortreſs, and ſupport the enterpriſes of General Laudohn. As the court is informed, that about 50,000 Ruſſians will advance on the ſide of Great Glogau, and preſs their Operations with unuſual vigour, we promiſe ourſelves a brilliant campaign in Sileſia."

Extract of a Letter from Dantzick, March 20.

"The King of Pruſſia is taking every method, through the channel of the Britiſh Miniſter at Peterſburgh, to induce the Empreſs of Ruſſia to agree to the propoſals of peace that have been made this year by England and Pruſſia. He hath even offered her a conſiderable ſum of money, half to be paid directly, and the other half at a certain term agreed on, after the concluſion of the war. By means of this offer, Mr. Keith hath ſtrengthened his party at court. Many of the miniſters preſs her Imperial Majeſty to relinquiſh her alliance with the Houſe of Auſtria; but the Chancellor, who is entirely in the Empreſs Queen's intereſts, pulls down in half an hour what coſt the others a fortnight to build up. In conſequence of this miniſter's credit, between 35 and 40,000 Ruſſians are ordered to advance towards Sileſia, to ſecond General Laudohn. On the other hand, different corps of troops are aſſembling, in order to proceed to the New Marche of Brandenbourg, where it is propoſed to have an army of 50,000 men. As to the Swedes, very little is expected from them."

April 18. Wedneſday, about five in the afternoon, died ſuddenly in his chair, of an apoplectic fit, Archibald Campbell, Duke of Argyle, Lord-Lieutenant of Argyleſhire, and Admiral of the Weſtern Iſles, Keeper of the Great Seal, Juſtice General, an Extraordinary Lord of Seſſion, Hereditable Maſter of the King's Houſhold in Scotland, Hereditable Keeper of Dunſtaffnage and Carrick, Chancellor of Aberdeen, and one of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy Council.

April 21. A freſh contract for tranſports has taken place, to about the number of thirty.

The expreſs arrived from Commodore Keppel, off Belleiſle, on Sunday noon, was brought by Capt. Ellis, of the Eſcort, who put into Portland; and is ſaid to bring an account, that our ſhips had ſilenced the battery next the ſea ſide, but on attempting to land their men on Belleiſle, they found the ſhore ſtuck full of ſharp iron ſpikes; and on the tide's ſinking, the flat-bottomed boats being loaded with men, &c. were ſo faſt upon the ſpikes, that they could not be got off; which the French perceiv-ing, dismasked their batteries, and killed and took prisoners near 500 of our men, besides the loss of 30 boats.

We hear an express is arrived with the Dutch mail, and has brought advice of the King of Prussia's routing a detachment of the Austrian army near Dresden, consisting of 10,000 men, and the loss of the Austrians, in killed and prisoners, is said to be 4000.

Yesterday arrived the Venus frigate from a cruize, and has brought in the Bertin, a French East-India ship, that she took the second instant, in company with the Hero man of war. The Bertin never was at sea before, is a fine ship, has ports for 64 guns, but only 28 mounted, and 350 men, is loaded with a great quantity of wine, provision, powder, shot, cannon, &c. and had 24000 dollars on board. She sailed from L'Orient with the Vaillant, of 74 guns, who has also a cargoe on board, and a frigate. When the Bertin was taken the other ships were in sight, and the Hero went in chace of the Vaillant. The Venus has also brought in the Lion privateer, of Bayonne, of 8 guns, and 80 men; she was formerly the Lovewell packet, from Falmouth.

Arrived the Albany, of New-York, from Carolina for Cowes; she has been taken by the Diana privateer, of Bayonne, and retaken by the Brilliant frigate.

If we may depend upon advices from Amsterdam, the French have very little reason to boast of the situation of things in the East-Indies, where all they have been doing for twenty years past is totally overthrown. The Empire of the Mogul is said to be in the greatest distraction, there being no fewer than three princes who claim that title.

April 23. The capt. of the Bertin French East-Indiaman declared, after she was taken, that the whole cargo on board the said ship was valued at 90,000 l. sterling, and that on her arrival in East-India, she was to be fitted out as a man of war of 64 guns.

The Bertin ship of war, taken by the Hero and Venus, is a new ship, burthen 1632 tons, length of her keel 155 feet, her breadth on her main deck 44 feet nine inches, depth of her hold 20 feet, and eight feet high between decks. It is thought she will make one of the finest men of war ever brought to England.

April 28. The French accounts join the Marshal d'Etrees and the Marquis de Bussy to the Count de Choiseuil, as Ministers Plenipotentiaries at the ensuing congress.

On Friday night the lady of the Right Hon. William Pitt, Esq; was delivered of a son, at his house in St. James's Square.

By letters from Vienna there is advice, that the court has not been able to raise cash to furnish Russia for the last six months pay of their troops.

It is reported, that the day for the first meeting of the congress is appointed for Monday, the 24th of May, at Augsbourg.

The baggage of the Plenipotentiaries, we are told, is gone down the river, to be embarked on board the Fubbs yacht.

We hear the coronation is now certainly fixed for the 5th of October next.

It is reported that some naval assistance is soliciting from our court, in favour of the Maltese.

Private Letters from Vienna assure us, that tho' the Empress had consented to the holding a Congress, she will send no Minister to it till after some decisive Blow is struck.

It is now said for certain that the second Expedition, which was to sail in a few Days, is countermanded.

By the last cartel Ship from France, which lately brought over two of the King's officers, taken in the Ajax, it appears that the whole number of English prisoners, including Dinant, Brest, Bayonne, and elsewhere in Europe, does not exceed 1000 men; and it is well known, that on their part the prisoners with us are near 25,000; a disparity which evidently shews the destruction made among their privateers and trade.

We hear that orders are given for building two or three more line of battle ships down the river; and that in consequence of these orders they are to lay the keels forthwith.

The following are the Letters which were received on the 19*th Inst. by the Right Hon. Mr. Secretary Pitt, from Major General Hodgson, and the Honourable Commodore Keppel, relative to the first Attempt against the Island of Belleisle.*

On board the Valiant, off Belleisle, April 12, 1761.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you, that his Majesty's fleet under the command of Commodore Keppel, and the transports with his Majesty's forces on board, came to an anchor in this road on Tuesday, the 7th inst. about 12 o'clock. Soon after their arrival, I went with the Commodore to take a view of the coast, and we agreed, at our return, that the port of St. Andro appeared to us to be the best place to make a descent, and it was settled that Sir Thomas Stanhope, with some of his Majesty's ships, and the transports with Stuart's and Grey's battalions, and marines on board, should make a feint at Sauzon, at the same time that we made a real attack at St. Andro. Then it was too late in the day to do more than give the necessary orders for the troops destined to land first, to be ready to embark, early in the morning, in the flat bottomed boats, that I might attempt a landing as soon as the ships had silenced a four gun battery, which commanded the entrance of the bay: This was soon done by the Achilles, after she took her station. No time was then lost to go in with the boats with the grenadiers and regiments, ordered for this service; but when we entered the bay, we found the enemy so strongly intrenched on each side of the hill, which was so excessively steep, and the foot of it scarped away, that it was impossible to get up to the breastwork. After several unsuccessful efforts, seeing it was impracticable to force the enemy from their lines, I thought it advisable to desist. Major General Crauford, and Brigadier Carleton, exerted themselves as much as possible on the occasion; the latter is wounded in the thigh, but in a good way of doing well. The loss we suffered in our retreat is very inconsiderable, as the fire of the ships covered it. The weather has been so bad ever since the 8th, that I have not been able to get returns from the several corps, so I cannot ascertain our loss, but I believe near 500 killed, wounded, and prisoners. I shall desire Mr. Keppel to go with me to reconnoitre the island once more; and if we can discover any Part where an attempt can be made with the least probability of success, we shall take a second trial. I cannot help observing to you, that the whole island is a fortification, and that the little nature had left undone to make it such, has been amply supplied by art, the enemy having been at work upon it ever since Sir Edward Hawke appeared before it last winter.

I have the honour to inform you, the greatest harmony has subsisted between the two services; and I should not do justice to the commander and officers of his Majesty's fleet, if I did not at the same Time inform you, that they have assisted me to the utmost of my wishes, in carrying on the operations, pursuant to his Majesty's instructions. I have the honour to be, &c. SHEDHOLM HODGSON.

Valiant, in the great Road of Belleisle, April 13, 1761.

SIR,

I HAD the honour of writing to you the 29th of March, when I left Spithead; it was from that time to the 6th instant before the wind came to the westward, to enable the fleet to steer in with the coast of France; and that evening I detached six frigates, in hopes they might in the night get so stationed as to cut off the enemy's communication with the main land. The next morning the fleet passed the south end of Belleisle, close along the shore; and at one of the bays by Point Lomaria, the General and myself thought a descent might be tried, but as the wind was southerly, it could not possibly be attempted at this time. At twelve o'clock the whole fleet anchored in the great road, when I immediately went with General Hodgson to the northern part of the island, to be as well informed of the strength of the enemy's works there as the time would admit; and while we were upon this necessary service, the ships of war in the road were preparing the flat boats for the reception of the troops; but by the time we got back, it was too late in the day to make any trial.

The 8th, the wind north-easterly, the boats being ready for the reception of the troops, the signal was made very early in the morning, for them to assemble at the rendezvous; and three ships with two bomb vessels were ordered to proceed round the point of Lomaria, at the S. E. part of the island, and attack the fort and other works in the Sandy-Bay, round the before-mentioned point, the place the General and myself had agreed to have attacked. Captain Barrington, in the Achilles, got placed first, and soon silenced the fire from the fort, and from the shore; and then, as he was directed, made the signal for his having done so, when the troops in the boats were pushed to the landing with great briskness and spirited behaviour, at three different places near each other, by Captain Barton, who I ordered to command the boats; but the difficulty of getting footing, and the enemy being strongly entrenched on the heights, and in the little fort, the troops soon met with such a repulse, that it became necessary, as well as prudent, to desist from the attempt for the present, and retire with the flat boats, in which they were well covered by the ships and bombs. One of the flat boats landed sixty of Erskin's granadiers, who got up a very difficult place to the top of the hills, where they formed with great skill, but were so immediately routed by a much more numerous body of the enemy, that all attempts to succour them was ineffectual, any further than the boats bringing from the rocks about twenty of them.

While all this was transacting, Sir Thomas Stanhope, with 4 ships of war, the battalion of Greys and Stuart's, with 500 marines in transports, were opposite Sauzon, and the northern part of the island: These troops were embarked in the boats, if possible to divert the enemy from the principal object.

A gale of wind coming on very quick after the retiring from the shore, has occasioned so much damage among the transports, by loss of anchors and flat boats, that it takes up a very considerable time to put things in a way to attempt what further may be thought practicable. The loss of flat boats in the gale is 22, which will render the force of landing much inferior to what it was first attempted with.

While the repairing and adjusting of these defects is in hand, I hope some spot may be agreed upon, where we may be more successful in the attempt than we were on the 8th; but if not so, I hope his Majesty will believe I have had nothing more at heart, than the exerting the force entrusted to me, in a manner most conducive to the honour of his arms. I have the honour to be, &c.

A. KEPPEL.

May 2. They write from Portsmouth, that the artificers there work with as great diligence as at the beginning of the war.

A great embarkation of infantry is shortly expected to be made for Germany, some horse transports having been lately fitted up off the Red-house, near Deptford, for foot forces.

Orders are given for draughts to be immediately made out of the marching regiments now in England, to complete the battalions of the guards which are at home.

The government has contracted for building several frigates, from 30 to 36 guns, in private yards.

A French privateer, of eight carriage and four swivel guns, is taken by the Milford man of war, and sent into Bristol. The said privateer had taken the Edinburgh, from South-Carolina to Cowes, and a vessel from Boston to Bilboa, with fish.

By the last accounts received from his Prussian Majesty's head-quarters at Meissen, the troops were all quitting their winter-quarters, and going into those of cantonment, in order to be ready to take the field upon the first notice.

Letters from Paderborn say, that it was expected the Allied Army, and that of the French, would take the field about the middle of this month, the powers at war not seeming at present much inclined to agree to a suspension of arms.

Notwithstanding a magnificent hotel is fitting up at Augsbourg, for the holding of a congress, and that apartments are already taken for the Austrian, Russian, and French plenipotentiaries; yet 'tis the general opinion at the Hague, that it will be the beginning of July before every thing can be got ready for opening the conferences.

According to letters from the Lower Silesia, great desertion prevails amongst the Austrians.

St. JAGO DE LA VEGA (Jamaica) May 9.

On Tuesday arrived the Dreadnought Privateeer, Captain English, belonging to Bristol, and brought in three Prizes, a Ship, Snow, and Schooner, from Monto Christi.

May 23. Last Saturday Evening arrived his Majesty's Ship Renown, the Hon. Frederick Maitland, Esq; Commander, with the following Prizes, viz. The Nostra Senora de la Candelaria, belonging to Monto Christi, but last from Port au Prince, with a Loading of Sugar, taken by the Renown and Trent. The Schooner Joseph, belonging to Monto Christi, but laden with Sugar from Port au Prince, taken by the Trent. The French Sloop, St. Jerome, a Merchantman, taken by the Centurion, James Galbraith, Esq; Commander. The Neptune, and the Schooner Black Joke, belonging to North-America, taken by the French, and retaken by the Renown and Trent. Also two Vessels taken by his Majesty's Ship Centaur, Arthur Usher, Esq; Commander.

St. JOHN'S (in Antigua) May 20.

Since our last his Majesty's Sloop Guadaloupe, Captain Williams, arrived at English Harbour from a cruize, in which, we are informed, she has taken the following Prizes, viz. a very large Sloop of 16 Guns, and 125 Men, bound from St. Eustatia to Martinico with Provisions, &c. a French Privateer of 8 Guns and 75 Men; a Dutch Schooner of 4 Guns; a Sugar loaded Ship bound from St. Eustatia to Europe; and has retaken a Ship from Boston.

A Vessel from Maryland, and another from this Port for Guadaloupe, have lately been taken near the Island.

June 3. The Snow Mary-Ann, from London for Bermuda, worth 10,000 l. Sterling, was taken by a Martinico Privateer of 12 Guns, commanded by Capt. Laruguay, the 16th of May, in Lat. 24 North, Long. 56, 30. West, from London, after a long Chace of 30 Hours, great Part of the Time within Pistol shot. The Privateer had taken three Prizes before to the Northward of Bermuda, and was three Days before taking the Snow in sight thereof. It is said many Privateers are already sailed from Martinico, and many yet to sail from thence, to cruize in the Lat. of Bermuda, and on the Coast of North-America.

BASSETERRE (in St. Christophers) May 2.

Yesterday Morning arrived a Schooner, laden with Coffee, bound to St. Eustatia from Martinico, taken by his Majesty's Ship Griffin, Thomas Taylor, Esq; Commander.

Yesterday in the Afternoon arrived a Schooner, laden with Beef, Wine, and Dry Goods, bound to Martinico from St. Eustatia, taken by his Majesty's Ship Emerald, Charles Middleton, Esq; Commander.

May 6. We are credibly informed that his Majesty's Ship Emerald, Charles Middleton, Esq; Commander, is one of the Men of War destined to convoy the Trade from these Islands, in June, to Europe.

Capt. Middleton received his first Command on this Station the 19th Day of March, 1757, and between that Day and the 1st of May, 1761, he has taken 50 Prizes, 13 whereof were Privateers, three Letters of Marque, 25 Merchant Vessels, and nine English Vessels retaken from the Enemy. Thirty-two of which Prizes he brought into the Road of Basseterre in St. Kitts.

On Saturday last was brought into the Road of Basseterre, by Capt. Joseph Scull, Commander of the Sloop Tyrrel, a large French Brig, mounting 10 Guns, with 36 Men, taken off Coracoa, and laden with 111 Hogsheads of best white Cape Sugars, 5000 lb. of Indigo (valued at about 6 or 700 l. Currency) and some other Goods unknown.

May 16. Upon the 14th Instant arrived in the Road of Basseterre, a Schooner loaded with Provisions and Dry Goods, bound to Martinico from St. Eustatia, taken by his Majesty's Ship Emerald, Charles Middleton, Esq; Commander.

Yesterday arrived in the Road of Basseterre, a Sloop of 12 Guns and 42 Men, laden with Provisions and Dry Goods, bound to Martinico from St. Eustatia, taken by his Majesty's Ship Griffin, Thomas Taylor, Esq; Commander, and his Majesty's Sloop Antigua, John Nott, Esq; Commander.

May 20. Upon the 16th Instant arrived in the Road of Basseterre, a large French Snow, mounted with six Guns, six Pounders, and 31 Men, and a Commission, bound to Bourdeaux from Martinico, laden with Sugar, Coffee, Cotton, and Cassia, and taken by his Majesty's Ship Emerald's Tender Experiment, commanded by Mr. William Lowe. The Snow fought the Tender three Quarters of an Hour, but struck as soon as Mr. Lowe got close, and they found he was going to board her.

June 3. Upon the 1st Instant his Majesty's Sloop Antigua, John N. P. Nott, Esq; Commander, brought into the Road of Basseterre, a French Privateer Sloop, of 12 Guns and 57 Men, belonging to Martinico, and commanded by Brun. CHARLES-TOWN (South-Carolina) JUNE 3.

Augusta, May 22. Both Upper and Lower Creeks are at War with the Spaniards. They have killed some Spaniards, and carried others into the Nation. The French came and demanded the Prisoners, but the Indians told them "to go about their Business, they did not know how soon they might serve them in the same Manner, for the many Lies they had told them."

June 17.

Colonel Grant's Head Quarters, near Fort Prince-George, Friday, June 5.

"We arrived here the 27th ult. from Ninety-six; nothing material happened on the March, but that on the 25th we were joined by 20 Chickesaws, and King Heigler, with 20 Catawbas. The Number of Indians we have amounts to something about 90, which, with the white Volunteers, compose the Corps commanded by Captain Quintyne Kennedy.

"On the 29th Capt. Daniel arrived with the last of the Waggons from Ninety-six.

"About 50 or 60 Cherokee Indians, chiefly of the Lower Towns, have put themselves under our Protection, and a Piece of Ground, about a Quarter of a Mile from the Fort, on this Side of the River, is allotted to them to settle upon; some Bushels of Indian Corn, and a small Quantity of Pease, have been given to them by Colonel Grant's Directions, in order that they may plant there; and for these few Days they have been that Way employed: Misery is strongly painted in the Figures of these poor Wretches.---The Effects of last Year's Campaign are best seen at present.---They are destitute of every Thing, and are almost starved.

"We found the Little-Carpenter [Attakullakulla] at the Fort upon our Arrival. He had set out from thence on his Return to the Nation, but on hearing the Troops were near, he came back on Purpose to see Col. Grant, and deliver him a Talk. He mentioned his constant Attachment to his Brothers the English, was far from excusing the Behaviour of a great many People of his Nation, whom he called Rogues and wrong headed People; but was in Hopes that Things would soon be made easy and pleasant, and begged with great Earnestness many different Times, that Col. Grant would not proceed any further with his Troops until he should return from the Nation: He received no Encouragement to think that this Request would be granted; on the contrary, he was an Eye-witness to the Expedition used in getting ready the Pack Saddles, &c. which he has Sense enough to know the Meaning of. He was extremely much shocked at the Behaviour of some People who fired at the Fort while he was there, before we arrived; he said he was certain that they would be put to Death by the Headmen of the Nation as soon as they came to the Knowledge of it.---He set out for the Upper Towns on the 29th ult.

"We ſhall march the 7th Inſtant; the Number of our Packhorſes will be pretty conſiderable; 630 will be loaded with Proviſions, Ammunition and Stores, excluſive of the Officers Baggage Horſes, &c. No more Advices from us may be expected till ſomething is done in the Cherokee Country.---The Equipage of the Officers will conſiſt chiefly in a Bear-ſkin and a little Rum. We are allowed no Tents.

New-Port, Rhode-Iſland, June 23.

Capt. Pierce, who left Holmes's Hole on Friday laſt, acquaints us, That a Whaling Sloop, belonging to Nantucket, arrived the Evening preceding at the ſame Place. She was taken in Lat. 39, between this Port and the Capes of Delaware, by a French Privateer Sloop, mounting 14 Guns. The above Privateer had before taken another Whaleman, which they burnt. After detaining all the Indians belonging to both Veſſels, and informing, that there were four other French Privateers on the Coaſt (one of which was commanded by Monſ. Chateleau) they permitted the others to return in the above Veſſel.

NEW-YORK, JUNE 25.

Sunday laſt two Veſſels with Rhode-Iſland Provincial Soldiers on board, paſſed by this City, in their Way to Albany.

By Captain Deverſon from London, we hear, that the Mail for New-York, was deſigned to be ſent down to Falmouth, about the 25th of April.

Laſt Night Capt. M'Atee arrived here in 21 Days from Jamaica, by whom we hear that the Cork Fleet, conſiſting of upwards of 20 Sail, bound to the Weſt-Indies, under Convoy of an Engliſh Frigate, had been met with by a French 74 Gun Ship, who took ſixteen of them: And as the Convoy was unable to cope with the Frenchman, he made the beſt of his Way to Jamaica, and informed Admiral Holmes, who thereupon immediately made Sail, in Hopes to meet ſome of them on the Coaſt of Cape Francois.

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.

We have Advice from Antigua, that the Men of War and Tranſports, which ſailed lately from New-York, are arrived at Guadaloupe; and that before they got there, Commodore Douglas had taken ſome Mortars on board, but what deſigned for not known.

That they had Proviſions of all Kinds in great Plenty: And that they had about 70 Privateers at Sea, ſome of which were daily ſending in Prizes.

The following Captains were taken, and carried into Martinico, from the 20th of March to the 15th of May laſt, viz.

A Schooner taken near Guadaloupe.

The Gentleman, from whom we had the above Liſt, ſays, there were a great many more taken, but could not get their Names: And that there were above 300 Engliſh Priſoners in Martinico, when he left it; moſt of whom very ſickly, owing chiefly to the bad Uſage they met with, and want of proper Aſſiſtance when taken ill.

Tueſday laſt Captain Clarke arrived here from St. Chriſtophers. In Lat. 36 he ſaw a new Brig taken by a Privateer Sloop of 10 or 12 Guns; the Brig ſailed with Captain Clarke, and thought to be deſigned for Virginia.

The ſame Day arrived here, Paſſenger with Captain Henderſon, from Fyall, Captain Snead, of this Port, who, off of that Place, on his Paſſage up the Streights, was taken by a French Privateer Sloop.

Captain Smith, from Barbados, in Lat. 30 N. Long. 70 W. from London, ſpoke with the Molly, of New-York, Captain Holmes, from St. Croix for New-London, all well.

Captain David Stewart, of this Harbour, but laſt from Charles-Town, in South-Carolina, is arrived at Portſmouth in Old England.

Yeſterday arrived here Captain Adams, of this Port, from Barbados. The Day before he made that Iſland, he was attacked by a French Privateer of 8 Guns, which he engaged for ſome Time, and at laſt obliged her to ſheer off.

A TREATISE of SUBTENSIAL PLAIN TRIGONOMETRY, applied to Navigation and Surveying.

1. Is given, A Demonſtration of the Grounds of the Method 2. The Structure of the Sliding Rule, and the Numeration of its Lines. 3. Plain Trigonometry, Rectangular and Oblique. 4. The common Caſes in Navigation wrought by the Sliding Rule, and alſo by Arithmetic, in a very conciſe Manner, with very few Figures. 5. Three amuſing Queſtions. 6. A Table of Numbers to every Degree, and every five Minutes of a Degree, from 1 Degree to 90. By the Numbers in this Table, Trigonometry, both Rectangular and Oblique, are wrought. And having two Sides, and their contained Angle given (of any plain Triangle, in any Meaſure) the Area is found at two Operations by Multiplication, with a very few Figures. I have ſet many Examples for caſting up the Content of Land by this excellent Method, from the Field Account, without Plotting. By this Method the Content will be as true as the Lines are meaſured, and the Angles taken. 7. Menſuration of Maſons Work, both by Pen and Sliding Rule, by a conciſe new Method. 8. A Solution of Rota; or Ariſtotle's Wheel. 9. A brief Diſcourſe on Gravity, ſhewing the Author's Opinion of the Cauſe of that Power, and proving it not to be from the Influence of Bodies on the Æther, as ſet forth by ſome late Authors. The whole very conciſe, and delineated on 7 Copperplates, by Thomas Abel.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

The following declaration, in the name, and on the part of her Majeſty the Empreſs Apoſtolic Queen of Hungary and Bohemia, was made and ſigned at Paris the 26th of March 1761, by her Miniſter at that Court, the Count of Stahremberg, and was delivered at London the 31ſt of March, by Prince Galitzin, Envoy Extraordinary from the Empreſs of all the Ruſſias.

DECLARATION of her Majeſty the Empreſs Apoſtolic Queen of Hungary and Bohemia.

THE diſpoſitions for peace, very agreeable to the ſentiments of all the parties engaged in the war, which the Kings of England and Pruſſia ſhewed laſt year, having met with difficulties, that prevented their ſucceſs, the courts of Vienna, Peterſburgh, France, Stockholm, and Warſaw, are unanimouſly agreed to invite thoſe of London and Berlin to reſume a negotiation ſo ſalutary for the happineſs of the world, and which muſt intereſt the humanity of all the powers at war.

In this view, and in order to their being able to proceed to the re-eſtabliſhment of peace, they propoſe the aſſembling of a congreſs, to which they think it may be proper to admit only the plenipotentiaries of the principal belligerant parties, with thoſe of their allies. If the Kings of England and Pruſſia adopt this method, her Majeſty the Empreſs Queen, the Empreſs of Ruſſia, the Moſt Chriſtian King, the King of Sweden, and the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, propoſe the city of Augſbourg for the place of a congreſs, obſerving, that their Majeſties point out Augſbourg no otherwiſe than as a town within diſtance of all the parties concerned, which, from its ſituation, appears to ſuit with the convenience of all the States; and that they will not reject the choice of another city in Germany, if their Britannic and Pruſſian Majeſties may deem it more convenient.

The Empreſs Queen, the Empreſs of Ruſſia, the Moſt Chriſtian King, the King of Sweden, and the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, declare, moreover, that they have choſen the Plenipotentiaries, who will be intruſted with the care of their intereſts at the congreſs, in hopes that the King of England, the King of Pruſſia, and their allies, will, on their part, ſpeedily make choice of their reſpective Miniſters, that the negotiation may not be deferred.

The ſimplicity of this declaration, which, for the general welfare, the Courts of Vienna, Peterſbourg, France, Stockholm and Warſaw, have determined to make to the Courts of London and Berlin, gives them hopes, that their Britannic and Pruſſian Majeſties will be pleaſed, by a ſpeedy anſwer, to make their ſentiments known, upon an object ſo eſſential to the repoſe and happineſs of Europe.

Done at Paris, the 26th of March, 1761, by order, and in the name, of her Imperial, Royal, and Apoſtolic Majeſty. Count STAHREMBERG.

N. B. A like declaration with this, in the name, and on the part of their Majeſties the Empreſs of all the Ruſſias, the Moſt Chriſtian King, the King of Sweden, and the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, has been made and ſigned on the ſame day as this; to wit, That of the Empreſs of Ruſſia, by Prince D. P. Galitzin; that of the Moſt Chriſtian King, by the Duc de Choiſeul; that of the King of Sweden, by the Baron de Cheffer; and that of the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, by M. de Fontenay: And they were all delivered at London at the ſame time, that is to ſay, on the 31ſt of March, by Pr. Galitzin.

The following Counter-Declaration was ſigned at London the 3d of April inſtant, and was delivered on the ſame day to Prince Galitzin, Envoy Extraordinary from the Empreſs of all the Ruſſias, to be tranſmitted by him to Paris.

THE diſpoſitions of their Britannic and Pruſſian Majeſties for the re-eſtabliſhment of the general tranquility of Europe, having been ſteady and ſincere, could not have undergone any alteration through the ſpace of time which has elapſed ſince their declaration of the 25th of November, 1759.

Their Majeſties therefore, with ſatisfaction, accept the offer of the aſſembling of a congreſs at Augſbourg, contained in the five declarations made at Paris the 26th of March laſt, and delivered at London the 31ſt of the ſame month, in the name, and on the part of their Majeſties, the Empreſs Queen, the Empreſs of all the Ruſſians, the moſt Chriſtian King, the King of Sweden, and the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony.

The Courts of London and Berlin equally acquieſce in the clauſe of this declaration which relates to the rule that is propoſed to be laid down, in regard to the admiſſion of the Plentipotentiaries, who ſhall have a right to be received at this congreſs.

For the reſt, as their zeal for the advancement of the ſalutary work of a general pacification, perfectly correſponds with that which appears to animate the Courts of Vienna, Peterſbourg, Verſailles, Stockholm and Warſaw, their Britannic and Pruſſian Majeſties will not delay to name inſtantly their plenipotentiaries, being diſpoſed to concur, with one and the ſame pace, in every thing that may accelerate the opening of the congreſs, which has been offered to them.

In the name, and by order of the King,

London, April 3, 1761. BUTE.

N. B. The ſame counter-declaration as this, for the Empreſs of Ruſſia, the Moſt Chriſtian King, the King of Sweden, and the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, was made and ſigned the ſame day as this; and they were all delivered at the ſame time to Prince Galitzin, to be tranſmitted by him to Paris.

LONDON, APRIL 21.

A letter from a gentleman on board the Lenox, off Fort St. David's, dated the 26th of laſt May, ſays, "After a paſſage of ſeven months, we were obliged to ſtay upon the Coromandel coaſt during the time of the Monſoons, a thing ſo dangerous, that ſhips ſeldom attempt it, and the Shaftſbury, by which this comes, is the firſt ſhip that has been upon the coaſt bound for England, during which time Mr. Corniſh having the command, was not idle; for he ſent the marines, and what ſeamen he could ſpare, on ſhore, took Karical, a place mounting 135 pieces of cannon; from thence he went and took Chillingburg, a ſmall place, but of great conſequence to the French; by which, and burning the Haerlem, a French 64 gun ſhip, in Pondicherry road, he has gained great honour.

"The only news I have to tell you is, that part of our ſquadron have blocked up, in Pondicherry road, a 36 gun frigate, two Indiamen, and two country ſhips, which we ſhall attempt burning in a few days, fireſhips being ready for that purpoſe; and that Colonel Coote is making all expedition to begin the ſiege of Pondicherry, being in the poſſeſſion of all the country round; and our fleet, conſiſting of eleven ſail, in ſight of the place, it muſt inevitably fall, unleſs their fleet, of which there is little danger, ſhould relieve it."

The laſt letters from Naples ſay, that a pacification, which conſiſts only of four articles, has been propoſed, under the mediation of his Sicilian Majeſty, to the Court of Rome and the Republic of Genoa, by which a thorough reconciliation may be brought about, without prejudice to the honour or intereſts of either party. The Grand Maſter of Malta has ordered certain Greeks whom he ſuſpected, and all perſons in general, who can be of no uſe in caſe the iſland ſhould be attacked, to leave it; and is putting it into the beſt poſture poſſible, notwithſtanding the aſſurances given by the French miniſter at Conſtantinople, that they have nothing to fear from the Turkiſh armament. The regular troops and militia will be compleat 20,000 men.

Private letters from Berlin, and from Magdebourg, exclaim loudly againſt the partiality and falſhood of certain German gazettes; in which they have not only publiſhed the forcing the poſt of Frankenſtein, but have ſince that aſſerted the Pruſſians had abandoned Landſhut with great precipitation; for neither of which facts there was the leaſt ground. Theſe letters likewiſe ſay, that though the King may conſent to a congreſs, he will not however yield to a ſuſpenſion of arms; and inſinuate, that certain negociations are upon the carpet, which will change the face of affairs in Europe, make way for an equitable diſtribution of power, and conduce thereby to a laſting and ſolid peace.

On Monday ſe'nnight the troops at Newcaſtle, deſtined for Germany, after being reviewed by General Whitmore, marched to Sheilds, and embarked immediately. On Thurſday laſt at noon they ſailed with a fair wind, under convoy of the Deal Caſtle man of war, Captain Tindal. They conſiſt of about 1500 men from Ireland, and 600 Highlanders.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated April 10.

"We have had much talk of peace of late, and fine preliminary articles have been forged in ſome places; but, to ſpeak truly, there is nothing yet certain upon this head: Of this only we are aſſured, that the nations at war are very deſirous of peace on good conditions.

"The Marſhal Duke de Broglio is now regarded as the reſtorer of our honour and glory, and we expect to ſee the Allies, before the end of the ſummer, in the ſame ſituation as they were at the time of the convention of Cloſter-Seven. The court will certainly enable the Marſhal to make the moſt brilliant campaign. The beſt troops in the kingdom are deſtined to reinforce him. A few notable ſtrokes may beſt ſettle the points of negociation, and more ſpeedily bring about a ſolid peace."

LONDON, April 28.

IN the declarations that have been published relative to the approaching congress, there are no hints given of any preliminary conditions being agreed on. This, however, is no proof that articles of such a kind have not been adjusted. It is to be observed, there are two distinct treaties of pacification to be considered of; namely, that between their Britannic and Most Christian Majesties, with which none of the other contending powers have any thing to do; and that between the Empress Queen and the King of Prussia. Hence a peace on the continent may take place, and the war between Great Britain and France continue; or, on the contrary, the two latter powers may come to an agreement, and the war be kept on foot in the Empire. Should peace not happen to prove the immediate consequence of this congress (and that such may possibly be the case, is pretty evident from the measures that are taking for carrying on the war) one good advantage may result from the holding of it; which is, that it may contribute towards the breaking off the unnatural alliance between Austria and France. These two powers can never be hearty well-wishers of each other; and, therefore, it can never be policy in the latter to exhaust her strength in support of the former; nor of the former to weaken herself in a contest with a co-estate, which is like to prove fruitless, and at the same time to purchase assistance from a hereditary enemy, with the cession of dominions that must in part annihilate her own power, and extend that of her strong rival; for such, in spite of any temporary confederacy, France must lastingly be to Austria. Whatever parties are made to suffer by the terms of pacification, Great Britain, who has contributed so largely towards the support of others, while she has, without any kind of assistance, been the atchiever of her own signal conquests, has a right to consult her individual interests and security. The only justifiable motive for going to war, is by victory to obtain that security which representations could not effectuate, or justice maintain; which was our case with respect to North America. Providence and our own valour have placed this security in our hands. The whole of North America, and its shores and islands, it is therefore to be hoped, will now become our own, to be preserved as sacred as those of Mexico and Peru are by the Spaniards, and those of Brazil are by the Portuguese.

HAGUE, April 10.

THEY write from Cologn of the 6th instant, that Count Konigseeg, Great Dean of the Chapter, was unanimously chosen Elector of Cologn that morning.

Lisbon, March 10. All the lands, funds, and effects of the Jesuits are, by a royal edict, confiscated to the crown, such only excepted, as are settled to pious uses.

Hague, April 11. On the arrival of several couriers, a report strongly prevails of a quadruple alliance; that the Czarina has made some propositions of peace; and that another pacific negotiation is upon the carpet, upon which the English stocks have risen on the change at Amsterdam surprisingly.

Berlin, April 7. The Elbe has risen six inches higher than in 1736, and overflowed Pretsch, Torgau, Wittemberg, and Meissen: Three streets in the last mentioned town, and one of its suburbs, are intirely under water. Two bridges on the Mulda, near Wurtzen, are broken down by the torrent. The desolation of the country cannot be expressed.

Hanau, April 10. According to the last letters from Cassel, that capital has suffered considerably by the late siege. The magnificent inclosure near the gate of Moulin, and that of Ann-berg, are entirely ruined; and in the city there are several streets and quarters, where a single house is scarcely to be found that has not been damaged by the cannon or the bombs.

Lower Silesia, March 27. Desertion has encreased of late among the Austrians; and some of the Croats have also mutinied in Bohemia, because they were not suffered to return home at the expiration of the term for which they had enlisted.

Vienna, March 28. We have received a courier from Count Daun, but nothing transpires as to the contents of his dispatches. It is a fact that Gen. Buccow is set out for Transylvania, in order to appease some small troubles that have arisen in that Principality. We are also likely to have some little disputes with the King of Sardinia, who claims absolutely the Dutchy of Placentia, in virtue of the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle; and the Equity of Redemption to the Marquisate of Final, on repayment of 1,200,000 Crowns to the republic of Genoa. He sets up a title also to a certain country that belonged formerly to his family. The insinuation of Count Czernicheff gives our Ministers also some disquiet.

From the Dutchy of Mecklenburgh, April 4. The Prussian commissaries at war arrived the 2d inst. from Rostock at Schwerin, and have imposed a pecuniary taxation on every house; the same has been done in the other Towns; and if the Money be not paid, military execution will ensue. There remains no great stock of cattle in the bailiwicks of Dargun, Nionkalden and Doberau. Contagious Distempers begin to break out in the bailiwick of Lubz, and have already carried off many of the inhabitants. The Invirons of Domitz are still under water; so that the Prussians cannot undertake any thing against that place, especially as they have not yet received the battering cannon they expected.

Vienna, April 4. The military operations are begun in Silesia. M. Laudohn sent the corps under the Count de Dreskowitz towards Johannersberg. Althan's dragoons, who form the van-guard, have reached Weidenau, and are followed by the Croats and Hussars; and the Count de Bethlem has established his corps at Kunzendorff, near Neustadt. Upon these motions, the Prussians have abandoned the neighbourhood of Cosel and Oppeln, to draw near Schweidnitz, where M. de Goltze, their commander, is assembling his forces. The motions of the armies in Saxony give us room to expect very soon some affairs of importance.

Nimeguen, April 13. The French have set 600 Peasants to work on the fortifications of the town of Rees, situate between Wesel and Emmerick. All the bridges which they are going to throw immediately over the Rhine were brought into Wesel the 9th of this month.

LONDON.

April 21. The following is an exact account of the articles consumed at dinner only, by the voters of a small borough on the day of electing their members, independent of veal, mutton, poultry, &c. and a preparatory breakfast, which last alone amounted to 750 l. Consumption at dinner, 980 stone of beef, 315 dozen of wine, and 72 pipes of ale, and 365 gallons of spirits converted into punch.

Some large transports, supposed for the East-Indies, are coming out of dock, and are to be fitted for sea with all expedition.

Letters from Leghorn of the 21st ult. advise, That by a Ragusian ship from Tripoli they had an account, that two polaccas of 18 guns each, a frigate of 22 guns, a tartan of 6 guns, and two xebecks of 18 and 8 guns, sailed from that port to cruise against the Christians.

On Thursday, the 9th of April, between the Hours of 7 and 8 in the morning, died at King's Cliffe, in Northamptonshire, the Rev. William Law, M. A. well known to the world by a number of truly christian pious writings, examplified by a life of 75 years, spent in a manner suitable to a worthy and true disciple of his heavenly, divine crucified Master Jesus Christ, who lived and spoke in and by Him. In his younger Days he sufficiently distinguished himself, by his parts and progress in human literature. Afterwards taking the advice of our Saviour to the rich young man, he totally renounced the world, and followed Christ in meakness, humility and self denial; and in his last years he was wholly swallowed up in his love to God and mankind; so that virtue in him was nothing else but heavenly love and heavenly flame.

In parts and sense interior to none,
With wit most amiable, with learning stor'd:
His talents great and high, were wholly sunk
In loving God with all his mind and heart.
His time was quite employ'd in things divine,
By serving God in goodness to mankind.

April 23. According to the last letters from Warsaw, they are not a little alarmed at the military preparations making in Walachia, and the magazines that are said to be raising by order of the Ottoman Porte. The pretence for this is, for some incursions which are alledged to have been made into that country; and a rumour prevails that a malecontent spirit appears in Transylvania, where the people seem inclined to revive their old form of government, and to erect a Prince of their own nation.

Some private letters from Bruffels acquaint us, that they have strong hopes of peace, in consequence of which, they flatter themselves that the Low Countries may possibly be erected into a Sovereignty, in favour of a Prince who reigns already in the hearts of the people, and whose elevation to that dignity, may prove no less agreeable to the Allies than to the Courts of Vienna and Versailles.

April 25. A French privateer of 22 guns is taken off Flamborough-head, by his Majesty's ship Acteon.

The Union, --------, from New-England to Spain, is taken by a privateer belonging to Bayonne.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, April 15.

'The Austrian, French, and Russian ministers here, wait with impatience for the consent of their courts to the scheme of pacification lately offered by the court of London. And 'tis the general opinion, that a congress, for amicably adjusting all differences amongst the powers at war, will be held in the course of next month.'

By the Dutch mail, which arrived this morning, we are informed, that the Prussians are every where in motion; and that their troops had gained several small Advantages over the Austrians, in Saxony.

CHARLES-TOWN (South-Carolina) MAY 30.

Extract of a letter from Augusta, dated the 21st instant.

"Inclosed you have a copy of the talk from the Lower Creek nation, sent to Governor Wright (and I believe also to Governor Bull) The Wolf king greatly promoted it, by what he said as he passed through those towns on his way home: It is true, they plainly shew that they only consult their own interest, which every wise people will do. The lower nation are in such extreme distress for want of provisions, that a blanket of strouds has been given for nine ears of corn; so that, were they even inclined, they cannot give protection to the faithless Cherokees, who must therefore now the sooner be humbled, as I hope they will. The traders say, that the Creek headmen in general have had an invitation to go to New-Orleans, but that none were gone from the lower towns, except the Young-Twin and a few of his adherents. They likewise report, that Mr. Lentiniac has lately passed through the Creek country, with ten horse-loads of ammunition for the Cherokees: And that the Chactaws have killed several Chickesaws, and carried off some of their women and children prisoners; which, if true, they will pay dearly for. Last Tuesday 15 Chickesaws set out from hence to join the army under Col. Grant, but they declared, that if any more of the Cherokees peace-talks were taken (i. e. listened to) they never would again go to war against them; observing, that they often hear the white people say G d d--n the Cherokees, but never see them kill any. Several deserters from Capt. Watts's rangers are arrived in this neighbourhood, which I could wish to see some pains taken to apprehend, and brought to exemplary punishment."

June 13. We have the following accounts from the Chicasah nation of Indians, viz. That an army of Chactahs, in the French interest, last winter came out with an intent to surprize and destroy that faithful little nation; but that the Chicasahs being advised of their approach, by no less than 8 messengers from the headmen of the friendly Chactahs, the enemy only appeared in the Chicasahs old fields, on the 19th of October, and fired at so great a distance as not to hurt one man, and that on the 20th went off again, without any other trophies than a few horses. That there were still 14 towns of the Lower and the Middle settlement Chactahs whom no artifices of the French had been able to seduce from their attachment to the English. That the Chactahs in the French interest had killed no less than 4 men, 1 woman, 2 boys, and a child, of the Chicasahs, and carried away 11 women and children into captivity, since the first of September last; but that those in our interest, had retaken and brought back to the nation 6 of the captives, and hoped to get the rest, which was likely to bring on a war between the two parties. That the friendly Chactahs came frequently into the Chicasah nation, and 200 of them were daily expected in (the last month) with their leather, to trade. That the Chactahs who came last into the Chicasah nation. reported, "That some of their chiefs having lately been at New-Orleans for the usual presents, were disappointed, and told, that it was owing to a large Spanish ship with Indian goods, coming to them, having fallen into the hands of the English: That the French gave no ammunition to those whose fidelity they suspected: And that they seemed to be in great confusion, and at work day and night in erecting many batteries." That the Chactahs were much exasperated against the Creeks, for having killed two of those who were in Charlestown last November, and in seeking satisfaction had killed two Savannahs through mistake, for Creeks. That some Northward Indians had last winter killed one Chicasah man, and carried away 6 women, and one Anthony Danford (a packhorseman) captives. That about 150 Chicasahs were gone out to war against those Indians, and a French fort (supposed to be fort Chartres) but none were yet gone against the Cherokees. And that, on the 10th of April, a talk arrived from the upper Creeks to the Chicasahs, wherein they called them their Young Brothers; desired to know the cause of the removal of those who had deserted the Breed camp; assured them that the Creeks had no intent to hurt them; and intimated and recommended, that all the Red People (i.e. Indians) should be united and stand together, &c. To which Pyamattahah, the chief of the Chicasahs, answered, "That the friendship subsisting between his nation and the English was steady and invariable, that with them (who always assisted them in their necessities, when applied to) they will stand or fall: That they very well knew what distinction to make between the English and French, and they would always love the former: That they knew the latter wanted their lands, but it should never be given up to them, 'till they were all sacrificed: That the Creeks were very mad, in killing the white people and Chactahs, and in menacing the Chicasahs; but the latter would not be idle lookers on; the cause of the English should be theirs, in opposition to French, Cherokees, and all other enemies:" And he concluded, with advising the Creeks "to love the English and hold them fast, or they might live to repent, &c."

June 20.

Extracted from Letters dated at the Camp near Fort Prince George, Keeowee (where Col. Grant then had his Head-quarters) June 5, 1761.

June 1. The bridge, the breast-work and ditch are finished, and the waggons, to the amount of 150, are inclosed in the breast-work: The flour bags are likewise compleated, and now filling; and the pack saddles (about 600) in great forwardness. In short, every thing is conducted with the greatest order and expedition, every individual being in high spirits, and striving who shall most forward the service. The number of captives now in the hands of the enemy are about 35 or 40, which they detain to exchange for such as we have; and it is proable they will not release them on other terms, unless compelled thereto. June 2. Every thing is in such forwardness, that we may be ready to march for the Middle Settlements on Friday next; in all likelihood we shall be there 5 days before the expiration of the time the Little Carpenter proposed to return; and perhaps we may meet him with the rest of our good friends at Etchowih, and negociate a peace with them on different terms from what they expect; for we may then suppose Col. Byrd, with the Virginians, to be at or near the Over-Hills towns. The Cherokees must be alarmed when they find two armies coming against them, and would treat willingly; but so far as I can judge, no treaty will be made with them before we are in the heart of their country, and can prescribe the terms ourselves: Rest satisfied, if you hear of a treaty, that it will be no bad one. The number of Indians under Captain Kennedy now is about 80. It is said that Col. Laurens will be left here with 200 men, to follow us with a supply of provisions expected soon from Ninety-Six. We shall carry 30 days subsistence with us. June 3. Bad weather impedes our work very much. We have now upwards of 2680 effective men, including officers. More than 260 are left sick at different posts. June 4. The Tale of Eltahtowih, who had been treated as a friend, was detected in his villainy. He went into the Chicasahs camp, and endeavoured to dissuade them from firing on the Cherokees; told them, if they did they might repent it, for that the white people were nothing; that he had 60 warriors in the hills, on the other side of the river, who, as soon as the army crossed, should go to work and harrass their rear; and that as soon as we entered the mountains, a very large body of Cherokees were ready to attack us there, who would shoot us down like pigeons; in which he will find himself grossly mistaken. The Chicasahs heard him with indignation, and would have scalped the villain instantly, had they not been prevented by Capt. Kennedy. When he was carried to the fort, and brought before Col. Grant, he could not deny the charge: The Colonel gave him a very severe reprimand; told him, he did not regard his 60 warriors, nor the whole nation; that they might begin when they would, he was ready for them; and dismissed him, with an assurance, that if he trespassed in like manner again, he should forfeit his protection, and the Indians should no longer be restrained from putting him to death as he deserved. Upon this he rode off to the Cherokee Camp, but is now absent from thence, and probably gone to give intelligence. I am afraid the rest of the Cherokees who have obtained protection, are of the same stamp, altho' they have begun a settlement. June 5. This day William Veal, a prisoner amongst the Cherokees ever since the affair of fort Loudoun, arrived in 3 days from Chotih, having made his escape from his master the Standing-Turkey. He says that since the return of Ocunnastotah from the French fort, who was greatly disappointed, and said the French could only supply them with powder and ball, and had not goods for themselves, most of the Over-Hills people were for peace; but that the Standing-Turkey and the Young-Warrior of Estahtowih were not: That Lentiniac had brought into Chotih nine horse loads of powder and ball, a little salt, some brandy, and a few shirts, but no goods; and had left the nation 7 days ago: That the Indians expected 4 canoes loaded with goods up the Tenassih; but he imagined they would be intercepted by the Chicasahs, as many of them were said to be on the other side of that river: That a great number of Cherokees had lately been out to war to avenge themselves of the Chicasahs, but got a severe drubbing, and had many men killed, and several taken prisoners: That the Upper Cherokees knew nothing of our army coming against them, and Ocunnastotah would say nothing as to peace or war; he left all to the Little-Carpenter, to do as he pleased: That about 4 hours before he (Veal) left Chotih, Willanawah arrived there with 14 horse loads of goods from Virginia, some of which he said he got for the prisoners he carried thither, some as presents, and some for skins; and reported that no army is coming from that quarter. To-morrow we expect to cross Keeowee river, and the next day to march for the Middle-Settlements. The number of Cherokees now under our protection is increased to near 100; the few young men that are among them move away in the night, and return very cautiously just after sun-rise."

ANNAPOLIS (in Maryland) JUNE 25

Since our last, our Fleet from England has all arrived safe, except two. They came out under Convoy of a 60 and a 20 Gun Ship, and parted with the 60 Gun Ship within the Capes.

We are informed that several People were taken up in England, and confined, for publishing false Reports of the King's intended Marriage.

BOSTON, JUNE 29.

We learn from New-London, that a Letter is transmitted there from Cape-Francois, which gives an Account, that about the Middle of May, a French 74 Gun Ship had taken an English Frigate, and 8 or 10 Merchantmen, off the Bite of Leoganne. They were bound from England to Jamaica.

NEW-YORK.

July 2. Captain Lyell, from Fyal, informs us, That about the 23d of April they had a Shock of an Earthquake at those Islands, in which a Vulcano in the Island Tercera broke out with a fiery Eruption, from whence issued a Stream or River of burning Matter, which ran, in about 20 Days, upwards of a Mile, overturning and destroying every Thing in its Way, to the utter Ruin of several valuable Plantations.

He also acquaints us, that a new Providore, or Commercial Judge of these Islands, had lately arrived at Fyal from Lisbon, who takes every Method possible to distress the English; and if a Vessel only happens to touch there, upon any Account whatsoever, he compels them to unload, and to pay the King's Duties; and if they do not dispose of their Cargo, he compels them to pay a farther Duty, for the Privilege of taking their own Goods on board again.

By Captain Sally, arrived here from Providence, we have Advice, that Captain Duncan Brown, in the Sloop Eleanor, of this Port, bound home from Monto Christi, was taken about 20 Days ago, just after she came out, by three Providence Privateers, and carried in there. The same Privateers also took a Ship belonging to Salem, in Company with Captain Brown, and two other Northern Vessels, Names unknown; all which, 'twas expected, would be condemned at Providence.

July 6. Tuesday Evening last, Capt. Basset arrived here from Jamaica, in 21 Days, and says, that a Vessel arrived at St. Lucia in said Island, in a short Passage from Gibraltar, the 8th of June, and reported, that a Fleet from England for Gibraltar, with their Convoy, a Ship of 20 Guns, were all lately taken by some French Men of War in the Channel; and that it was currently reported at Gibraltar, that three or four French Men of War had lately been taken in the Mediterranean, by the English Fleet on that Station.

Last Monday, off Sandy-Hook, Capt. Basset was chased by a Ship, which he imagined wanted to speak with him, but as soon as a Pilot stood out to meet her, she tacked and put out to Sea directly. Next Day the same Ship appeared off the Hook, and gave Chace to the Ship Grace, Captain Chambers, and Capt. Sheldon, both outward bound.

The same Ship was again seen off the Hook on Wednesday, and 'tis supposed is an Enemy.

Friday Evening last, Samuel Hindshaw, late Master of the Brig Columbine, of this Port, came to Town from Rhode-Island, in Company with Capt. Messenger, late of a Ship belonging to London, and from the former we have the following Account, viz. That he sailed from New-Providence the 6th of June last, and on the 16th of the same Month, in Lat. 37 and Lon. 74, in 25 Fathom Water, was taken by a French Privateer Sloop of 16 Guns, and 120 Men, from Martinico, Monsieur Duett, Commander; that on the 14th (two Days before Capt. Hindshaw was taken) they took Capt. Messenger, above-mentioned, in a Ship from the Isle of Man, for Virginia, of 10 Guns, and 15 Men, after an Engagement of an Hour, in which several Frenchmen were killed, and Capt. Messenger slightly, and his Mate mortally, wounded; that the latter was taken on board the Privateer, for the Benefit of a Doctor, and after they had put Capt. Messenger's Guns on board Capt. Hindshaw's Brig, and fitted her out as a Tender, they sunk the Ship, with all her Cargo (Salt) on board; that they afterwards took a Whaler, which the Captain ransomed for 400 Dollars, took all the English Prisoners on board, and with them arrived safe at Rhode-Island. When Capt. Hindshaw left the Privateer, she was in Chace of six Sail, steering S. S. E.

A few Days before the Privateer took the abovementioned Vessels, she fell in with a Letter of Marque Brig from the Continent, that engaged her for several Hours, killed five of her Men, wounded many of her Officers, and got clear off.

Whilst Captain Hindshaw was on board the Privateer, he learnt that there were two other Privateers from Martinico, supposed to be on the Coast by this Time.

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.

A Captain of a Vessel arrived at New-York from St. Croix, reports, That when Lord Rollo appeared off of Dominico (one of the Neutral Islands) the Commandant came on board, to know what Terms he would give him; but that soon after a Message was sent from the Merchants, and other Inhabitants, acquainting him, they would agree to none; upon which his Lordship detained the Commandant, made good his Landing, with the Loss of only seven Men, and obliged the Fort to surrender.

Yesterday a Sloop arrived here from Quebec, out above five Weeks ----No Men of War had got up when this Vessel sailed.----The Garrison very healthy.----Arrived there from this Port, the Captains Reese, Thompson and Simpson.

Arrived. At Liverpool, The Planter, Wynn, from New-York. At Weymouth. The Sally, Brown, from Virginia. At Bristol. The Planter, Randolph, from Ditto.

"Last Friday died, of an inflammatory and malignant Disorder, Mr. JOHN WATSON, of Bucks County, principal Surveyor on the Part of this Province, in running the Division-lines between us and Maryland. He was a Man of unbiassed Integrity, great Penetration, and singular Depth of Thought. He did not content himself with a bare superficial Knowledge of the practical Part of his Profession, but had closely studied the Principles on which it is founded, even up to the Higher Geometry, and most useful Branches of Astronomy. As a Surveyor, he has left, perhaps, but few Equals in this Part of the World; and his Death is justly regretted by all who had the Happiness of his Acquaintance, as a Loss to his Friends, to his Country, and to Men of Learning."

SCHEME

Of a LOTTERY, for raising Two Thousand One Hundred and Thirty-five Dollars, for erecting a New School-House, for the High Dutch reformed Congregation at Lancaster; and for raising Five Hundred and Sixty-five Dollars, to enable the Wardens and Vestry of St. James's Church, in the said Borough, to compleat the Work begun by them.

WHEREAS the early Instruction of Youth in the sound and rational Principles of Religion, is certainly the chief Means of promoting the Happiness of Mankind, both temporal and eternal; and as the Poor have an equal Right to enjoy the Blessings arising from Religion as well as the Rich, the Members of the High Dutch reformed Congregation having that View, and their old School-house, erected almost since the first Settlement of the Town, being not only too small for the Number of Children frequenting it, but also so greatly decayed, as to render it dangerous: They are now under Necessity of erecting a New One; but having expended large Sums for erecting a new Church, they are thereby rendered unable to carry on the present necessary Work, without having Recourse to a small Lottery for that Purpose; and they flatter themselves, they will meet with the Countenance and Encouragement of the Public, who, on all such Occasions, have hitherto shewn the greatest Chearfulness to assist and forward every public and pious Work. And the Wardens and Vestry of St. James's Church return their Thanks to the Public, for the Favours they received; but as the Money arising from the Lottery for the Use of said Church will not compleat the Work by them begun, they chose this Method of joining with their Neighbours and Fellow Christians, rather than set up a Lottery by themselves, for so small a Sum as above mentioned; and they flatter themselves, they shall meet with further Indulgence from the Public.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

Abſtract of an ACT of PARLIAMENT, paſſed in the Thirty-third Year of the Reign of his late MAJESTY, intituled, An ACT for veſting certain Eſtates in Pennſylvania, New-Jerſey, and Maryland, belonging to the Proprietors of a Partnerſhip, called, The Pennſylvania Land Company in London, in Truſtees to be ſold; and for other Purpoſes therein mentioned.

THE Act recites a Conveyance in Fee, dated the 11th and 12th of Auguſt 1699, from William Penn to Tobias Collet, Michael Ruſſell, Daniel Quare, and Henry Gouldney, of ſeveral Lots in Philadelphia; and a Tract of Land in the County of Bucks in Pennſylvania, granted to Richard Noble; and of One Hundred Acres of Land in the ſaid County, and all Buildings and Improvements thereon; and of Sixty Thouſand Acres of Land in Pennſylvania; and Five Thouſand Acres thereof in the Manour of Highlands, Five Thouſand Acres in the Manour of Gilberts, in the County of Philadelphia, Five Thouſand Acres in the Manour of Rocklands (Seven Hundred Acres whereof were to be ſet out upon the River Delaware, and the reſt to be one Lot out of every Townſhip) and the Remainder of the ſaid Sixty Thouſand Acres to be ſet out of ſuch other Parts as the ſaid Grantees, their Heirs or Aſſigns ſhould deſire (except ſuch as were already taken up) and alſo of all Lots, Mines, Minerals, Royalties, Commons and Appurtenances (royal Mines only excepted) with a proportionable Part of all Liberty Lots laid out, but not taken up, at and under the yearly Rent of two Beaver Skins.

And alſo, that by Indenture, dated the ſame 12th of Auguſt, between the ſaid Grantees of the one Part, and William Beach and others, of the other Part, the ſaid Grantees agreed to ſtand ſeized upon Truſt, to execute ſuch Deeds as ſhould be approved of by the Grand Committee of the Proprietors; and that the ſaid Grand Committee, or Grantees, by their Order, might depute any Perſon in the ſaid Province to contract for and execute Conveyances of the Premiſes, and that the nett Profits of the Premiſes ſhould be divided into Two Hundred and Twenty Shares, and be managed by a Grand Committee, to be annually choſen, as therein mentioned; and that the Proprietors ſhould be called, The Proprietors of the Pennſylvania Land Company in London; with Directions how the ſaid Two Hundred and Twenty Shares ſhould be transferred or deſcend, in caſe of Death.

And alſo, that in the Year 1720, the Proprietors of the ſaid Two Hundred and Twenty Shares, diſpoſed thereof to a new Sett of Proprietors, who divided the ſame into Eight Thouſand Eight Hundred Shares, and Receipts for many of them were ſigned and given out by Thomas Story the then Treaſurer.

And alſo a Conveyance in Fee, dated the 23d and 24th of December 1720, from the ſaid Thomas Story to John Haddon and Benjamin Kirton, of a Tract of Land between the two navigable Creeks in the County of Kent, in Pennſylvania, containing Eleven Thouſand Acres; another Tract, lying at Pequa Creek, in the County of Cheſter, in Pennſylvania, containing One Thouſand Nine Hundred and Forty Acres; another Tract in Goſhen, in the ſame County, containing Two Hundred and Seventy-four Acres; another Tract on Schuylkill, in the ſaid County of Philadelphia, containing Three Hundred and Thirty-four Acres; one Oil, and one Corn or Griſt Mill, and the Land thereto belonging, containing Six Acres; another Tract of Land in the ſaid County of Bucks, containing One Hundred and Seventy-Acres; one Bank Lot and Wharff, containing One Hundred and Twelve Feet, in the ſettled Part of the City, with a ſmall Tenement thereon, and Three Hundred Acres of rich Swamp Land near Philadelphia (whereof about Seventy Acres were imbanked and incloſed) and Seven Thouſand Two Hundred Acres of Land in Pennſylvania, not then taken up; in Truſt for the ſaid Company.

And alſo a Conveyance in Fee, dated the 26th and 27th of September 1723, from Peter Sonmans to the ſaid Haddon, Samuel Bonham, Samuel Turner, and John Midford, of Two Ninetieth Parts of Ninety equal Hundredth Parts of a Tract of Land on the Weſtern Diviſion of New-Jerſey, called Arent Sonman's Manour, in the County of Burlington, containing Twenty Thouſand Acres, with the Allowance for Roads; and all other Tracts belonging to the ſaid Proprietaries in Weſt New-Jerſey, not then taken up; and all Mines, Minerals, Royalties, and Appurtenances thereto belonging (except and reſerved to the ſaid Sonmans, his Heirs and Aſſigns, one full Moiety of the ſaid two equal Ninetieth Parts, to be taken out and diſtinguiſhed from the remaining Part) in one entire Tract, in Truſt for the ſaid Company.

And alſo, the ſeveral Indentures, Conveyances and Deaths, whereby ſuch Parts of the Premiſes, as remain unſold, are become veſted in Thomas Hyam, Thomas Reynolds, and Thomas How, in Fee, in Truſt as aforeſaid.

And alſo that it appears, that about Nineteen Thouſand One Hundred and Ninety-four Acres of the Premiſes have been ſold, and that about Seventy-two Thouſand Three Hundred and Thirty now remain unſold, beſides ſome Houſes, Mills and Tenements.

And alſo, that Three Thouſand Six Hundred and Eighty-one of the ſaid Eight Thouſand Eight Hundred Shares have been transferred to John Bell, who, by his Deed-poll, dated the 12th of November 1753, acknowledged the ſame to be in Truſt for the ſaid Company; and, by Deed-poll dated the 21ſt of September 1759, aſſigned the ſame to the ſaid Hyam, Reynolds, and How, in Truſt as aforeſaid.

And alſo, that Two Hundred and Thirty-three Shares ſtand in the Books of the ſaid Partnerſhip, in the Names of ſome of the original Proprietors, and Three Thouſand Seven Hundred and Twenty-eight Shares, in the Names of ſeveral Perſons ſpecified in the firſt Schedule.

And that, in Purſuance of Advertiſements, Claims have been made, under ſeveral Receipts, for Six Hundred and Fifty Shares, and Twenty-ſix Shares; and the Names of the Perſons who produced ſuch Receipts, or claimed ſuch Shares, are mentioned in the ſecond Schedule.

And alſo, that it is unknown who are entitled to the Remainder of the ſaid Eight Thouſand Eight Hundred Shares; and that ſeveral of the Perſons, named in the ſaid Schedules, are dead; and ſome of the ſaid Shares have been aſſigned; and that the Premiſes unſold are greatly increaſed in Value; and, if ſold, would raiſe a conſiderable Sum to be divided amongſt the Perſons intereſted, and the parcelling out thereof may tend to populate the ſaid Colonies.

And alſo, that Contracts have been made with Francis Rawle, the ſaid Company's Agent in Pennſylvania, for Sale of ſome of the Premiſes; and that it will be for the Benefit of all Perſons intereſted, that what remains ſhould with all convenient Speed be ſold; but Perſons decline treating, unleſs all the Perſons intereſted join in the Sale, or unleſs the ſaid Lands, by Authority of Parliament, be veſted in Truſtees to be ſold.

Therefore, it is ENACTED, that all the Premiſes (except what have been ſold and conveyed by the Truſtees) be veſted in John Fothergill, Doctor in Phyſic, Daniel Zachary, Thomas How, Devereux Bowley, Luke Hinde, Richard How, Jacob Hagen, Silvanus Grove, and William Heron, their Heirs and Aſſigns, diſcharged of the Uſes, Truſts and Powers, the ſame are now ſubject to by the ſaid Indentures, and of all Right of the Perſons intereſted in the Partnerſhip on Eight Thouſand Eight Hundred Shares, but upon Truſt; with all convenient Speed to cauſe an Office Copy of this Act to be inrolled in the Office of the Maſter of the Rolls in Philadelphia, and a full Abſtract thereof, inſerted ſeven Times at leaſt in the Philadelphia Gazette, with Notice that the Premiſes (not contracted for with the ſaid Rawle) are to be ſold by public Auction, at ſuch Times and Places in Philadelphia, as ſhall be ſpecified in ſuch Gazettes (not leſs than ſix Months from the firſt publiſhing ſuch Notice) in Parcels, to the Perſons who will offer moſt; and ſhall cauſe likewiſe to be publiſhed in the London Gazette, and other daily Papers in England, Advertiſements that the Premiſes are to be ſold by public Auction, in Parcels, to the beſt Bidder, with other Particulars as ſhall be requiſite; and on Receipt in England of the Pennſylvania Gazette (in which ſuch Abſtract and Advertiſements ſhall be inſerted, or one of them, with an Affidavit made before ſome Judge or Magiſtrate at Philadelphia, of the ſame being the Gazette publiſhed at Philadelphia) to cauſe to be publiſhed in the London Gazette, and other News Papers in England, that the Premiſes are to be ſold by public Auction, at the Times and Place mentioned in the Pennſylvania Gazette.

And the Premiſes ſhall be put up to be ſold accordingly, and ſo from Time to Time, till ſold.

And, upon Truſt, to convey all Parcels, by the ſaid Rawle agreed to be ſold, to the Purchaſers, their Heirs and Aſſigns, on Payment of the Purchaſe Money, and on Payment of the Money agreed for any Part, by the Act, veſted in the Truſtees, ſuch Premiſes ſhall, at the Coſt of the Purchaſers, be conveyed to them, their Heirs and Aſſigns.

The Truſtees are empowered to depute any Perſon or Perſons, in Pennſylvania, to ſell and convey, and may revoke ſuch Deputations, and execute new ones; and what ſuch Perſon or Perſons ſhall lawfully do and execute, under ſuch Deputation (until the Revocation thereof ſhall be inrolled in the ſaid Office of the Maſter of the Rolls) ſhall be valid.

The Truſtees ſhall take Care, that ſufficient Security be given by every ſuch Perſon, for his due Behaviour, and remitting to England, with all convenient Speed, all Money received under ſuch Deputation; and no Perſon ſhall be capable to act under it, until he ſhall have given ſuch Security, and an Inrollment thereof be made in the ſaid Office of the Maſter of the Rolls.

The Receipt of the Truſtees, or of any Perſon deputed as aforeſaid, for any Purchaſe Money, in reſpect of Premiſes agreed to be ſold by the ſaid Rawle, or which ſhall be ſold under this Act, ſhall be a ſufficient Diſcharge, and the Purchaſers ſhall not be anſwerable for any Loſs, Miſapplication, or Nonapplication of the Purchaſe Money.

The Truſtees, after Receipt of any Money, ſhall with all convenient Speed pay the ſame into the Bank of England, or place it out in the public Funds at Intereſt, and apply the Dividends as the principal Money is directed to be applied.

None of the Truſtees, or their Deputies, nor any Perſon in Truſt for any of them, ſhall purchaſe under this Act; and every ſuch Purchaſe (if any) ſhall be void.

John Seare, Thomas Nugent, and James Eyre, Eſqrs; and John Paterſon and William Hayton, Gent. are appointed Commiſſioners for examining the Claims of Shares; and they are empowered, by Examination of Parties, or Teſtimony of Witneſſes upon Oath or Affirmation, or by Inſpection of Books, Deeds, Writings or Accompts of the Partnerſhip, or otherwiſe, to determine the ſame in a ſummary Way; their Power to continue for three Years, from the 24th of June 1760.

By Capt. Folger, arrived at Boſton in 8 Weeks from London, we have the following Advices, viz.

BREST, April 14.

WE are no longer in Fear for Martinico. A certain Power, to whom the King has promiſed at the Peace Liberty of Commerce on the Coaſt of that Iſland, has engaged to introduce 3000 Men, with Proviſion and Ammunition, for its Defence.

LONDON.

May 2. It is ſaid the French are ſo willing to ſee an End put to the War, that if the Empreſs Queen refuſes to concur in ſome advantageous Propoſals which the Court of France propoſes ſoon to make to England, they will agree to a ſeparate Peace, allowing us full Liberty to aſſiſt the King of Pruſſia in whatever Manner we ſhall think proper.

May 6. Yeſterday an Expreſs arrived from Belleiſle, and we hear has brought Advice, that the landed Troops had been five Days in great Want of Proviſions, occaſioned by hard Gales at Southweſt, that prevented their being ſupplied from the Fleet; but when the Expreſs ſet Sail, all Things were in a good Way, and our Batteries were ſoon to begin to play on the Citadel of Palais, where the French, to the Number of 3500 Men, were, and have Plenty of Proviſions and Ammunition, and it was thought would make a very vigorous Defence.

Our Court, it is ſaid, are ſo fully ſatisfied of the great Utility of our being Maſters of Belleiſle, that the ſecond Expedition now fitting out is ordered thither with a Reinforcement of five or ſix compleat Regiments, and ſome Battalions.

The Iſis, Capt. Wheeler, has taken and carried into Gibraltar the Oriflamme, of 50 Guns, and 400 Men: In the Action Capt. Wheeler was killed.

The Truth of the Affair at Belleiſle, as far as it relates to Capt. Oſborne, is, that that Gentleman, with 70 of Erſkine's Grenadiers, got upon a Rock, and defended themſelves againſt 400 French, till they were reduced to 19 and their Captain. After they had laid down their Arms, a French Captain came up and killed our brave Engliſh Officer, which a Grenadier obſerving, told him he was a Scoundrel, and then laying him dead on the Spot, jumped down the Rock, and got ſafe on board.

By a private Letter from Belleiſle we are informed, that our Troops had marched ſeven Miles from the Place of Landing, without Oppoſition, when Gen. Hodgſon's Diſpatches were ſent away; the Number of the French Troops on the Iſland were judged to be about 5000, all of whom, with the Inhabitants, had retired with their Effects into the only fortified Town; and that as ſoon as our heavy Cannon ſhould come up, our Forces would immediately beſiege the Place in Form.

The French Accounts join the Marſhal d'Etrees and the Marquis de Buſſy to the Count de Choiſeul, as Miniſters Plenipotentiaries at the enſuing Congreſs.

We hear the Coronation is now fixed for the 14th of October.

The Dutch Papers by Monday's Mail ſay, that a Ceſſation of Arms betwixt the Allied and French Armies was to commence the firſt of May for ſix Months.

It is aſſured, that it has been unanimouſly agreed, that a Suſpenſion of Arms ſhould not take Place, to prevent any Chicanery in any of the Courts concerned in the preſent War.

Upwards of 20,000 Ounces of Plate is ordered to be got ready for the Plenipotentiaries that are to go to the Congreſs.

The Surrender of Guadaloupe, or any of our Acquiſitions on the Continent of America, is abſolutely denied.

It is alſo ſaid, that one Article will be (ſhould the preſent Treaty take Place) that Oſtend and Burges ſhall be ceded to the Crown of France.

A Letter from Auguſbourg, dated the 23d ult. ſays, "The Ambaſſadors of the Seven Crowns, which are to form the approaching Congreſs, will arrive here between the 1ſt and 7th of July."

It is ſaid the French Court have propoſed to ſurrender up the Iſland of Minorca, in Lieu of Senegal and Goree; but this, it is ſaid, occaſions ſome Objections.

A Letter from Paris, dated April 21, ſays, "The Exploits of M. Broglio, and the Reception the Britiſh Fleet met with at Belleiſle, from M. de St. Croix, ſeem to have revived the Spirits of the Nation, and make it forget the Diſtreſs to which it was reduced by the War. We forget the Congreſs, and the Suſpenſion of Arms, which a Week ago was looked upon as a Point ſettled with the Court of London; and talk of nothing but the Laurels which M. Broglio is to reap, by making a Conqueſt of Hanover, which hath been reſolved on in Council. It is to facilitate the Execution of this Project, and to oblige the Enemy to evacuate the Biſhoprics of Munſter, Hildeſheim, &c. that M. de Soubiſe is gone to Francfort to confer with M. Broglio. They propoſe to reduce Prince Ferdinand to the Condition in which the Duke of Cumberland found himſelf, when he ſigned the Convention of Cloſterſeven. Mean while the News which the Court has juſt received, may poſſibly retard the Execution of theſe Plans. M. de Caſtellas, Governor of Weſel, has diſpatched an Expreſs with the melancholy News, that our famous Magazine in that Place had taken Fire, and was intirely conſumed, with upwards of 1250,000 Rations of Hay. The Loſs is computed at Two Millions of Livres. Thirty-three Soldiers periſhed in the Flames, and, when the Poſt left Weſel, the Danger was not over; and it was feared the Flames would reach another Magazine above the Town. As we depended on this Magazine for the Subſiſtence of Soubiſe's Troops, that Army will not act ſo ſoon as was expected.

It is ſaid Prince Ferdinand complains much, that he can form no Project, nor come to any Reſolution, but, before he has Time to put it in Execution, the French receive Intelligence of it, and fruſtrates his Deſigns.

Letters from Saxony ſay, that after the Pruſſians had defeated the Auſtrians near Egra, they penetrated thro' that Paſs into Bohemia.

Part of the Baggage and Equipages of the Earl of Egremont, and the Hon. General Yorke, appointed by his Majeſty Plenipotentiaries at the enſuing Congreſs, are embarked on board one of the King's Yachts.

It is ſaid that the Expence of the Plenipotentiaries for the ſeveral Powers at the laſt Congreſs at Aix-la-Chapelle, amounted to 1,000,000 of Pounds Sterling.

A Commander of a Ship in Town, who was taken and carried to Denain, ſays, when he left that Place, it was currently reported, that the Engliſh muſt in leſs than 24 Hours be in Poſſeſſion of Belleiſle; and that never had hotter firing been heard than for 48 Hours.

May 7. There is advice that a large Magazine, eſtabliſhed by the French at Weſel, valued at 120,000 l. accidentally took Fire, and was entirely deſtroyed.

By the Dutch Mails which arrived this Day, we learn, that neither the Pruſſians nor the Auſtrians have as yet done any Thing worth mentioning in Saxony: That it was thought the King would open the Campaign with the Siege of Dreſden: And that M. Daun had received an Expreſs from the Empreſs Queen, to acquaint him, "That, moved with Compaſſion for the Sufferings of Germany, ſhe had conſented to the holding of a Congreſs at Auguſbourg; but that he was, nevertheleſs, to follow the Plan ſettled at Vienna, and to endeavour to terminate a War ſo prejudicial to her People by ſome important Enterpriſe."

It is ſaid, that the Fiſhery on the Banks of Newfoundland, laſt Year, when the French were excluded, produced to Great-Britain, 14,000l. Sterling.

The Oriflamme, of 50 Guns, taken by his Majeſty's Ship Iſis, ſailed from Toulon, and had narrowly eſcaped this War, being twice taken; the firſt Time, when under the Command of Monſ. Du Queſne, when that Commander was defeated by Admiral Oſborne, and afterwards in the Squadron belonging to De la Clue, vanquiſhed by Admiral Boſcawen. She is ſaid to have a conſiderable Quantity of Money on board, for the Uſe of the French Colonies. There were near 50 killed and wounded on board the French Ship, and only three on board the Iſis, by the unfortunate Shot that proved the Death of Capt. Wheeler. The Iſis mounted only 44 Guns, at the taking of the Oriflamme.

His Majeſty's Ship Tamer, Captain Lee, is arrived at Portſmouth from New-York; ſhe came out the 6th of April.

The Report of one of our Men of War, belonging to the Expedition Fleet, being ſtranded near Belleiſle, by running too near Shore, is groundleſs.

The Prince Frederick Packet-boat, Captain Copeland, from Falmouth to Liſbon, was drove aſhore near Vigo, by a French Man of War of 64 Guns, and beat to Pieces. The Crew were ſaved, as alſo the Mail.

There are three of his Majeſty's Yachts now fitted, or fitting up at Deptford, for the Uſe of his Majeſty's Miniſters appointed to attend the intended Congreſs, at the Imperial City of Augſbourg, to ſettle the Preliminary Articles for ſettling a general Peace.

BOSTON, JULY 6.

Notwithſtanding a Paragraph in the London Prints, of April 30, which ſays, "That by Authority we can aſſure the Public that Belleiſle is taken, &c." yet a Print of the 7th of May ſays, Our laſt Advices from our Forces at Belleiſle, which arrived here on Tueſday laſt, are, That the Engliſh Troops had landed moſt of their Artillery.---That the French, to the Number of 3500 Men, were retired to the Citadel, where they have Plenty of Proviſions and Ammunition, and 'twas thought they would make a vigorous Defence.-----On receiving this Intelligence, two Battalions were immediately ordered to embark forthwith, in order to reinforce the Army at Belleiſle.----Several Officers of Diſtinction have already been ſlain at Belleiſle, among whom are Sir William Peere, Major M'Pherſon, Major Purcell, Captain Oſborne, &c. Sir William was ſhot dead by a Muſket Ball, as he was reconnoitring too near the Citadel. The Report of Lord Pultney being killed, is entirely groundleſs.

Notwithſtanſting a Congreſs is appointed to be held in a ſhort Time at Augſbourg, by the Belligerant Powers at War, for ſettling a general Peace, a very large Fleet is fitting out at Portſmouth, and the greateſt Preparations making to continue the War the enſuing Summer with the greateſt Vigour.

Captain Folger left Portſmouth in Company with three Maſt-ſhips for Piſcataqua, and 8 or 10 other Veſſels for different Parts, under Convoy of the Cheſterfield Man of War, who was to proceed with the Maſt-ſhips to Piſcataqua. Captain Folger informs, that there had been no Advices from Belleiſle for near a Fortnight before he ſailed, occaſioned by the long Run of Northerly Winds, but that it was not doubted the whole Iſland was in our Poſſeſſion. That the Packet for New-York was to ſail about the Middle of May; and that Capt. Diamond, in a Ship for this Place, was to ſail in about three Weeks after him.

By Captain Bennet, who was taken on his Paſſage from the Weſt-Indies for this Place, and carried into Cape Francois, and who came to Town laſt Saturday, we learn, that a Veſſel was arrived at the Cape from Bourdeaux, which ſhe left the 8th of May, and gave an Account that the whole Iſland of Belleiſle was in the Poſſeſſion of the Engliſh.

We hear from Portſmouth, New-Hampſhire, that on Tueſday laſt Major ROGERS was married to Miſs Betſy Browne, Daughter to the Reverend Mr. Arthur Browne, of that Place.

NEW-YORK.

She ſailed from Spithead the latter End of April, as Convoy to the Virginia and Maryland Fleets, and having ſeen them ſafe into the Capes, ſhe proceeded to Sandy-Hook. We hear ſhe has brought upwards of 30,000 Pounds Sterling, being Part of the Parliamentaty Grant for the Uſe of theſe Northern Colonies. It is ſaid 25,000 l. of it is for this Government.

Captain Norton ſpoke with the Carolina Fleet, homeward bound, under Convoy of his Majeſty's Ships Succeſs and Scarborough.

Captain Whitemarſh, of the Sloop Endeavour, who arrived here laſt Tueſday from Cape-Fear, informs us, that ſeveral Veſſels came in there juſt before he ſailed, with Advice, that four Sail of Privateers, viz. a Brig, two Sloops, and a Schooner, had been ſeen cruiſing between the Capes of Virginia and Delaware, and had taken ſeveral Veſſels in their Sight, ſome of which were from England; and that thoſe Veſſels who brought the News (being Whalemen) narrowly eſcaped being taken.

We have Advice from ſeveral Parts of Eaſt-New-Jerſey, that the late hot Weather had much blaſted many Fields of Wheat, to the great Diſappointment of the poor Farmers Hopes.

We hear that on Monday laſt a Man and a Woman in this City, expired with the violent Heat of the Weather.

By Captain M'Dougall, who arrived here on Monday laſt in 30 Days from Santa Croix, we hear, that Commodore Douglas had attacked and taken the Iſland of DOMINICA, poſſeſſed chiefly by Indians mixed with French: That there was Advice at Santa Croix, that one of the Tranſport Ships that ſailed from this Port the 2d of May laſt, with a Party of the Royal Welch Volunteers on board, ſuppoſed to be bound for Guadaloupe, was taken by a French Privateer, and carried into Martinico: And that another of thoſe Tranſports had been boarded by a French Privateer, who had been obliged to ſheer off, and leave moſt of her Men behind, who were all cut off, but with the Loſs of an Engliſh Officer, and one other Man in the Fray.

The Privateer had alſo taken a Veſſel belonging to Philadelphia, which ſhe had ſent to Miſſiſippi.

July 13. Friday laſt Capt. Cleague arrived here in nine Weeks from Madeira. Fourteen Days ago he ſpoke with Captain Macnamara, in a Snow from Liverpool, for North-Carolina, who had been juſt 7 Weeks out, and informed him, That the Engliſh Fleet, under the Command of Commodore Kepple, had taken the Iſland of Belleiſle, on the Coaſt of France; that they had loſt a great Number of Men in the Landing; and that moſt of the Men of War were gone to Quiberon Bay.

Three Days before Capt. Cleague ſpoke with Captain Macnamara, he fell in with Captain Lilley, from St. Kitts for Boſton, who acquainted him, That certain Advice was received at St. Kitts, that three Privateers, and a King's Frigate, were fitting out at Martinico for the Coaſt of North-America; and that the Privateers were a Brig and two Sloops.

Saturday laſt Captain Hibbs, in a Sloop, arrived here in 14 Days from St. Kitts: Two Days before he left that Iſland, Captain Read, in the Oliver Cromwell, of that Place, carried in there 2 French Privateers, one of which mounted 14 Guns, and the other 10; that a Letter of Marque Ship was juſt arrived at St. Kitts, from South-Carolina, that had been taken the Day after ſhe ſailed over Charles-Town Bar, by a French Privateer Sloop, after an obſtinate Engagement, the Ship having expended all her Ammunition, but was afterwards ranſomed.

Capt. Hibbs touched at St. Martins, and was acquainted there by the Captains of ſome French Privateers, juſt chaſed in by an Engliſh Man of War, that no leſs than 12 or 14 French Privateers were fitted out at Martinico for the Coaſt of America. Captain Hibbs confirms the Account above-mentioned, of the taking of Dominica.

The Ship we mentioned in our laſt, to have chaſed the Captains Chambers and Sheldon off Sandy-Hook, and ſuppoſed an Enemy, was his Majeſty's Ship the Penzance, Captain Doake.

Two Weeks ago we acquainted the Publick of five Sail of the Cork Fleet, bound to Jamaica, being taken and carried into Port Louis, on Hiſpaniola, by a French Man of War; we can now aſſure them for certain, that ſaid Account was true; that three of the Ships belonged to London, and one Ship and a Brig to Liverpool; and that Captain M'Alpine, from South-Carolina for Jamaica, and a Snow from Coracoa for this Port, were carried in there alſo; that there was great Plenty of Proviſions at Port Louis, inſomuch that the beſt of Iriſh Beef was at one Piſtole a Barrel, and Flour a perfect Drug.

The Succeſs is arrived at Briſtol from New-York, in ſix Weeks Paſſage.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.

The Betty, Captain Robeſon, of this Port, but laſt from South-Carolina for London, was taken in Sight of the Ships at Spithead, by a Cutter Privateer belonging to Calais, but was afterwards loſt going into Cherbourg, and very little of the Cargoe ſaved.

Captain Houghton, in the Sloop Kingſton, from Jamaica for this Place, is taken, and carried to the Miſſiſippi.

SEMINARIES of LEARNING, have always been highly regarded in every polite and free Nation; and the College of New-Jersey (without pretending to any Superiority above other Institutions of the like Kind) has been so well approved of, as tending to advance Religion and useful Learning, that it has been a Favorite Object of public Charity, both in Great-Britain and America, from its first Foundation: But, notwithstanding the generous Donations made to this laudable Undertaking, the great and necessary Expences that have accrued, render the present State of the Fund altogether inadequate to the Execution of the original and extensive Designs of the Trustees. In order, therefore, to enable them to carry on the useful and important Purposes they have in View (and having at present no other Resource) the following Scheme of a LOTTERY is presented to the Public; and it is hoped, that since Lotteries of a less public Nature have been countenanced, this will meet with Encouragement, from all who are Well-wishers to the Interests of Virtue and Learning.

SCHEME

Of a LOTTERY, for raising Fifteen Hundred Dollars, to help to finish the New Presbyterian Church, now erecting in the Forks of Brandywine,

THE Members of the Presbyterian Congregation of the Forks of Brandywine, having largely contributed, by Way of Subscription, towards the building a House for the public Worship of GOD; yet, after using their utmost Efforts this Way, finding themselves unable to compleat and finish the same in a decent Manner, beg Leave to apply to the Public, by Way of a small and easy Lottery; and as a benevolent Spirit has so remarkably appeared at this Day, in promoting so many Designs for the Benefit of Mankind, they flatter themselves, that a Regard to Religion and generous Encouragement to build decent Houses for the Worship of GOD, will continue the chief Object of their Attention.

Fort Pitt, June 24, 1760.

DESERTED from this Garrison, SAMUEL PELLTON, Serjeant of Captain Paul Dehaus's Company of the Pennsylvania Forces, about five Feet seven Inches high, a round Face, disfigured about his Nose and Mouth with the Small-Pox, curled brown Hair, between 25 and 28 Years of Age: Had on and took with him his Regimental Clothes, red Calimancoe Breeches, and a Pair of Leather Breeches, and some other Clothes not remembered; he was born in the Jerseys, and had a Silver Watch, with a single Steel Chain. Also RICHARD WORREN, Corporal of Capt. Samuel Neilson's Company of said Troops, about five Feet three or four Inches high, about 22 or 23 Years of Age, born in the North of Ireland, speaks good English, has a smooth Face, and is a great Gamester at Cards: Had on blue Regimental Clothes, and had a Highland Plad Kealt, which makes him remarkable when he wears it, he also had blue Cloth Breeches. They both have their Firelocks with them. Worren was in the Jersey Service last Campaign, and as they are both acquainted with that Part of the Country, and are sly smart Fellows, tis thought they are gone that Way, or to New-York. As it is supposed they broke open and plundered a Store the Night they went away, whoever takes up said Deserters, and brings them to this Garrison, or secures them in any Goal in this Province, so as they may be brought to Justice, shall have Eight Pounds Reward for both, or Four Pounds for each, paid by the Officers to whom they belong. SAMUEL NEILSON.

ALL Persons indebted to the Estate of Robert Jessop, deceased, are desired to pay to JAMES EDDY, sole Executor; and those who have any Accounts against said Estate, to bring them in for Settlement.

By Captain Carr, arrived here from Briſtol, and Captain Allen at Boſton from Liverpool, we have the following Advices, viz.

C A D I Z, April 6.

THE Marquis de Squillace is juſt arrived here from Madrid. Two men of war are come into this port from Carthagena, and will be followed by ſeven other ſhips of the line, two frigates, and eight xebecks, all which are deſtined to convoy 4000 land forces to the Bay of Honduras.

Naples, April 4. The following is a tranſlation of the Turkiſh Manifeſto againſt the Malteſe. "By the mighty powerful grand Sultan Oſman, &c. &c. &c. The great Amurath, illuſtrious Sultan of the Turks, our predeceſſor, and well-beloved Brother, of immortal memory, had conceived the deſign of wreſting the little Rock of the Knights of Malta from the Chriſtians, and deſtroying their ſhips, which cover and infeſt our ſeas; but death ſnatched him off, and prevented his project from taking effect. To us he left it in charge by his will, to ſee his deſign put in execution. Perhaps we ſhould have deferred the Enterprize, had we not been obliged to it by our juſt wrath againſt theſe Knights and their ABETTORS; the behaviour of whom, in regard to our ſhips, is but too ſhocking. Therefore, taking a quick and lawful reſolution, we ordain by this preſent ordonnance, that our ſubjects appear at Conſtantinople in the moon of March, with their galleys, and their other armed veſſels; and that all the ſhips in our arſenals be ready at the ſame time, that we may embark our army, in order that it may imprint terror in the univerſe; that the whole Chriſtian world may feel our juſt indignation; and that by our invincible power may be made the laſt maſſacre of the Chriſtians, &c. &c. &c.

April 15. Councils are frequently held about the formidable armament making in the ports of Turkey, which is ſtill ſaid to be deſigned againſt Malta; but, leſt it ſhould be directed another way, we are going to tranſport ſeveral regiments to Sicily, to reinforce the garriſons by way of precaution.

Malta, April 2. The greateſt preparations are making to receive the Turks, in caſe they ſhould make an Attempt upon this iſland.

Vienna, April 15. From all the ſteps taken by the King of Pruſſia, we are of opinion that he will act offenſively in Sileſia, and keep upon the defenſive in Saxony.

Prague, April 18. We have advice from Saxony, that Marſhal Daun has detached from his army a choſen corps, with orders to approach Meiſſen as near as poſſible, to obſerve the motions of the Pruſſians; which gives us room to expect ſome bloody affair in that part.

Konigſberg, April 17. It is ſaid our governor has juſt received orders from Peterſburgh to ſend off immediately all the Pruſſian priſoners that are here for Riga, that they may not give any advice of the Motions which are very quickly to be made by the Ruſſian troops in this city, and in all the reſt of the Kingdom.

Berlin, April 21. The military preparations are purſued with as much vigour as ever, and recruits are every day ſent off for Saxony and Sileſia, as well as a number of horſes for remounting the cavalry.

The negociation for an exchange of priſoners with the court of Vienna, is entirely broke off, and our commiſſaries are returned.

April 22. We are generally perſuaded here that the appointment of the congreſs will not prevent the campaign's taking place, as well in Saxony as Sileſia, where we are even aſſured ſome great blows will be ſtruck this year.

The different letters from Dantzick and Poland by the laſt poſt import, that the Ruſſian army was at length put in motion, and preparing to paſs the Viſtula, having, for that purpoſe, already eſtabliſhed ſeveral bridges of boats over that river.

Francfort, April 23. We have a report of an action in Saxony, between the Pruſſians and the corps of Auſtrians under General Beck; but neither time nor place is mentioned.

Cologn, April 28. They write from Voigtland, that the Pruſſians, after exacting heavy contributions, have abandoned Hoff, Plauen, and all that neighbourhood, and were marching, to the number of 10,000 men, towards Heſſia.

Hanover, April 18. We are flattered here with the hopes that an armiſtice is to be publiſhed on the firſt of May, between our army and that of France, which will continue proviſionally for ſix months.

Francfort, April 23. The Prince de Soubiſe, after divers conferences with Marſhal Broglio, upon the approaching operations, ſet out from hence the 21ſt, to take the command of the army on the Lower Rhine. It is thought the campaign will open there in 15 days.

Weſel, April 29. The Prince de Soubiſe arrived here the day before yeſterday, and is gone to viſit all the poſts along the Rhine.

Duſſeldorp, April 27. It is reckoned that the Prince de Soubiſe's army will be entirely formed by the 10th of May, at which time it will be put in motion to enter upon its operations, which it is thought will begin with the ſieges of Munſter and Lipſtadt. As to the army of Marſhal Broglio, there is no appearance of its taking the field before the month of June, having need of that time to refreſh and provide themſelves with all the wanted neceſſaries.

Hague, April 28. The Hereditary Prince has been ſome Days at Munſter, where his Serene Highneſs is taking great pains to put that place in a good ſtate of defence.

Breſt, April 14. M. d'Apche left at the Iſle of France ten French ſhips in good condition; but the Engliſh had then ſeventeen on the coaſt of Coromandel.

Conſtantinople, April 5. The treaty of commerce between the Porte and the King of Pruſſia, which hath been negociating ſome years, is at laſt concluded. The ratifications were exchanged yeſterday.

Sugan, April 24. The troops quartered in this Dutchy having aſſembled under Gen. Goltze, have been joined near Schweidnitz by a large body of troops, chiefly horſe, brought from Saxony by the King in perſon, who hath fixed his quarters at Wirbus, between Schweidnitz and Reichenbach. The Auſtrians have taken poſſeſſion of Hirchſberg, Schmeideberg, Landſhut, and Lemberg, which the Pruſſians had abandoned. The magazine at Lemberg was removed to Schweidnitz. The Auſtrians are marching towards Branau. Laudohn's army amounts to 80,000; that of the Pruſſians (excluſive of the garriſons) is ſcarce 50,000.

Frontiers of Poland, April 18. The movements of the Ruſſians begin to be very ſerious. We are credibly informed, that their deſign is to ſecure the important paſs of Trachenberg, which will open to them a free entry into Lower Sileſia. Some of their parties advanced a few days ago to Rawitſch, in the Palatinate of Poſnania, ſituated only 8 miles from Berlin.

Gottingen, April 24. A detachment from hence has been engaged near Uſlar, with a battalion of grenadiers and that of the Britiſh Legion, many of whom were killed; and we have taken two officers, 200 ſoldiers, 50 horſes, and a long piece of cannon belonging to the Britiſh Legion. Our loſs in the affair was, 13 men killed, and ſeven wounded. M. de Mandreville, Lieut. in the dragoons of the volunteers of Flanders, had an arm ſhot off.

Nurenbourg, April 28. General Reid has begun hoſtilities in Saxony, and has gained ſome advantage over the Pruſſians.

The army of the Empire is far from being complete; nor is there any appearance of its being ſo, as the ſtates of the Empire are excluded from the congreſs, which they ſeem greatly to reſent.

County of Glatz, April 23. All the regiments are upon their march this day, in order to form near the frontiers of Sileſia. Silberberg and Wartha are taken poſſeſſion of by force. General Laudohn will fix his head-quarters at Corretau, within a league of Glatz. We expect ſoon very important news.

Paris, April 30. Sixteen men of war are ordered to be equipped in all haſte at Breſt, and ſeveral captains have received orders to repair thither forthwith.

Hague, May 5. If we may credit ſome private letters from the Dutchy of Cleves, the French army under the command of the Marſhal Prince de Soubiſe is to be entirely formed by the 15th inſt. and will then begin its operations.

Paris, May 1. We ſhall ſoon have intereſting advices both from Marſhal Broglio's army and that of the Prince de Soubiſe, both having received orders to begin their operations. A ſuſpenſion of arms is again much talked of. Our court and that of London have mutually agreed to ſend a commiſſary to each other, as well to ſettle this ſuſpenſion, before the congreſs aſſemble, as to diſcuſs ſome points relating to America, which will not be eaſily adjuſted. M. de Buſſy goes from our court on this errand. If, contrary to all expectations, an armiſtice cannot be ſettled, it is aſſured that the king will go in perſon to the army on the Lower Rhine.-------Though M. de Buſſy is a man of ſenſe, and well acquainted with America, we doubt much of his ſucceeding in the negociation; as, in his laſt tour to London, he made many enemies, being very ſarcaſtical, which the Engliſh cannot bear.

May 4. Our Eaſt-India company have received advice, that one of their ſhips homeward bound, with a very rich cargoe, is fallen into the hands of the Engliſh.

Vienna, May 3. It is currently reported, that the alliance between the Grand Signior and the King of Pruſſia, is actually concluded and ratified; and that M. Stutterheim has made his public entry into Conſtantinople, as miniſter from his Pruſſian Majeſty.

Hague, May 8. It is whiſpered that the States of Holland, on receiving notice that no miniſter from a neutral power would be admitted to aſſiſt at the aſſembly of the miniſters at Augſbourg, reſolved to ſend thither an acute perſon, in whom they could confide, under pretence of private buſineſs of his own, to obſerve all that ſhould paſs.

L O N D O N, May 9.

Several letters from Germany mention that there had been a rencounter between the Engliſh and French troops near Gottingen, to the diſadvantage of the former. The French have made ſuch additions to the works of Gottingen, that it is become a regular fortreſs. The Hanoverian engineers are alſo daily augmenting the fortifications of Hamelen.

They write from Neurenberg of the 21ſt paſt, that moſt of the circles of the Empire have refuſed to ſend any recruits to the army of the Empire, alledging, that as the inhabitants were almoſt ruined by the war, it was therefore not in their power to ſend more troops, or to contribute any more towards them.

We hear that Gen. Bocland's, the Earl of Panmure's, and Lord Robert Manners's regiment of foot, are ordered to embark immediately for Belleiſle.

According to all the French advices received from Heſſe, the Allies loſt in their laſt expedition upwards of 15,000 men.

The account of the King of Pruſſia's arrival in Sileſia is confirmed. Mr. Mitchell, the Engliſh Miniſter, is gone to Leipſic. The Miniſters of the department for foreign affairs are returned to Magdebourg. The Privy Counſellor Hæſeler is to go with Count Podewils, to aſſiſt at the congreſs at Augſbourg.

May 12. All the letters from Vienna intimate, that the court ſeems to have very little dependance on the approaching congreſs, becauſe, they ſay, nothing is yet ſettled whereon to found any preliminaries.

Conſiderable betts are laid at Hamburgh, that a general peace will be ſigned by the firſt of October.

Our accounts from the Hague intimate, their hopes of peace begin to ſubſide, more eſpecially ſince the declaration of the French miniſter, that Prince de Soubiſe has expreſs orders to open the ſiege of Munden before the 20th inſtant.

A terrible fire broke out the 15th ult. at St. Gall, in Swiſſerland, which in ſix hours reduced all the principal buildings, and 38 dwelling-houſes, to aſhes; and on the 18th it broke out again, which made a total deſolation of that place.

By a letter from a gentleman at Belleiſle we are informed, that on the firſt party of our troops climbing ſome rocks at Belleiſle, "The French immediately advanced a large party with field pieces to attack them before formed. A raſh Step! for in the execution, haſtily marching to the water-ſide, their flank became expoſed to the broadſides of the Hampton-Court, Swiftſure and Eſſex, which brought down rank and file quicker than the fowler's piece does ſtarlings from the tops of Lincolnſhire reeds: To withſtand was folly, for flight now became wiſdom. In ſhort, our forces now landed without obſtruction, took poſſeſſion of their field cannon, and as they formed began the purſuit. The French troops are ſince retreated under the cannon of Palais. Regulars and militia, their number is about 4000; their entrenchments and defences are exceſſive ſtrong, and will give us much trouble, but hope we ſhall come off with glory.---Wedneſday the 28th we were preparing every thing for a grand attack; we have been giving and receiving ſhells all this day. Danger and death ſurround us; but bleſſed be God we retain the breath of life, though at the expence of our hearing. Some few hours more will decide the fate of Belleiſle.

By another letter we learn, that the French Governor, on our landing, had ordered all the proviſions and cattle on the iſland into Fort Palais; that he was ſtrongly encamped with his army before the town, and had placed all the Engliſh priſoners in the upper apartments of the citadel, againſt which our artillery was intended to be levelled: And that, on a meſſage being ſent to the French Governor, to remonſtrate againſt his expoſing them in that dangerous ſituation, he ſaid he ſhould return no anſwer.

May 14. On Monday an expreſs was ſent to Portſmouth, for expediting the embarkation of the troops, and ſailing of the tranſports deſigned for Belleiſle; and yeſterday afternoon another expreſs went for the ſame port, and, as ſuppoſed, upon the ſame buſineſs.

Extract of a letter from a land officer, dated at Belleiſle, April 28, ten o'clock at night.

"By ſome deſerters from the enemy we are aſſured, that the number of regular troops on the iſland amounts not to more than about 2200 men, excluſive of which, about the ſame number of the militia have been aſſembled and armed, but are undiſciplined. Our batteries are inceſſantly playing upon the fortreſs of Palais, in which they have already done great damage, and the place undoubtedly muſt ſoon be ſurrendered to us; which ſeems alſo to be the wiſh of the inhabitants, Gen. Hodgſon's manifeſto, and our behaviour upon the iſland, encouraging them to remain and enjoy their poſſeſſions in peace; many, however, with their effects, have joined the French army under M. de St. Croix, in a part at preſent ſtrongly entrenched under the fortifications of Palais, but diſpoſitions are making by them to retire into the fort. Our loſs ſince the firſt landing does not amount to 20 men. The firing on both ſides for two days paſt has been exceſſively hot. I muſt again repeat that the iſland will infallibly be ours. The inhabitants, who are very numerous, now ſupply us with proviſions, for which they are paid their own price: Their villages alſo are numerous, but very ſmall. I hope my next will bring you the agreeable news of the ſurrender of this important place. The plate belonging to the churches, which is accounted of great value, has been carried into the fortreſs."

May 16. Advice is received over land from the Eaſt-Indies, that the garriſon of Pondicherry had made a furious ſally, but were repulſed with great loſs; and there had been taken from the French ſeveral pieces of cannon, &c. The loſs on our ſide was very ſmall; but that Major Monſon had one of his legs ſhot off by a cannon ball.

The account from the Eaſt-Indies came by the Groyne mail, and it further ſays, that the Engliſh expected to be maſters of Pondicherry in a few days, as they had learned by the priſoners, that the garriſon was in great want of every neceſſary of life.

A ſpecial courier is arrived here from the court of France, whoſe diſpatches occaſioned the immediate aſſembling of a cabinet council, the determinations of which are kept a profound ſecret.

The Bruſſels gazette, in an article from London, dated May 5th, ſays, It would be known, in a day or two, whether France would evacuate Germany, and leave the Empreſs Queen and the King of Pruſſia to determine the differences alone.

Letters from Francfort, of the 5th inſt. ſay, that M. Broglio was determined to puſh his operations with the utmoſt vigour; and that the whole French army was to be put in motion on Whitſunday or Monday.

From Bruſſels they write, that the French troops in the neighbourhood of Dunkirk have received orders to hold themſelves ready to march; and that an embargoe was laid in all the ports of France.

May 19. It is ſaid, that the French loſt in the ſally they made from Pondicherry, before mentioned, in killed and priſoners, 1500 men; and that 'tis impoſſible for the place to hold out.

Other letters adviſe, that the French army, encamped under the walls of Pondicherry, attacked ours (that was blocking up the place) at all their poſts at once, killed 10 or 12 Europeans, and between 20 and 30 blacks, and made themſelves maſters of two pieces of cannon; but were at length repulſed.------Some days after they made a ſecond attack upon our troops, but were again repulſed.----That our army, having received a reinforcement of about 600 men, attacked the French in their turn, killed and wounded a conſiderable number of them, took 23 pieces of cannon, and drove them into Pondicherry. On Major Monſon's being wounded, Colonel Coote had taken the command; but the ſiege could not be made in form, on account of the approaching monſoons, till about January (laſt) when they made no doubt but we ſhould be maſters of the place.

Our ſhips were to remain before the place, to prevent their receiving any ſuccour.

The laſt letters from the Hague are not in the uſual ſtile: The Dutch politicians own themſelves deceived by fine words and fair appearances, and ſeem to think that the return of peace is by no means ſo near at hand as they imagined a fortnight ago.

His Majeſty has ordered, that the parliament be prorogued to the ſecond of July.

The King has been pleaſed to fill up the vacant ſtall at Weſtminſter, of the moſt Honourable Order of the Bath, by conferring the Honour of Knighthood of that Order on Charles Oſborne, Eſq; Vice Admiral of the blue ſquadron of his Majeſty's fleet.

This morning was carried from his houſe, in Upper Groſvenor Street, in great funeral pomp, the remains of the Right Honourable Lord Edgcumbe, in order to be interred with his anceſtors at Mount-Edgcumbe, in Devonſhire.

The laſt letters from Hambourg mention, that it was reported there that the King of Denmark had lent the 10,000 men to the King of Pruſſia; that others ſaid that thoſe 10,000 men were deſtined to join the Hanoverian army, and act in concert with Prince Ferdinand.

According to ſome advices from Paris, the Chevalier de St. Croix, commandant of Fort Palais, in the iſland of Belleiſle, reckoned he might hold out till the end of the preſent month, and this in hopes that the Duke d'Aquillon might find means to ſend him ſuccours.

The troops of the King of Pruſſia, according to divers letters, are as numerous, as freſh, and as well mounted, as if this campaign was the firſt of the war.

Beſides the reinforcements ſent to our forces in Belleiſle, there are already 12000 regular troops, without including marines.

It is now ſaid that the meeting of the congreſs will be retarded by ſome propoſition made by the French court, to which ours does not agree:---One article is reported to be a ſuſpenſion of arms for ſix months by ſea as well as land.

The Empreſs Queen makes but little oppoſition to France's concluding a ſeparate peace with England, for certain political reaſons, which a ſhort time will ſhew.

Whether the Turks pour into Hungary, or fall upon Italy, the ſcene of blood and devaſtation muſt be cloſed greatly to the prejudice of the houſe of Auſtria.

We are well informed, that Hans Stanley, Eſq; one of the Lords of the Admiralty, is to be at Dover on the 23d of this month, on his way to the court of France; and

TICKETS WARRANTED undrawn, in the ACADEMY LOTTERY, may be had at the Place of Drawing, and alſo of David Hall

M. de Buffy to be at Calais on the ſame day, and as near the ſame hour as poſſible, in order to embark for England.

They write from the Hague, of the 14th inſtant, that by ſome letters from Berlin they had advice, that a body of 6000 Ruſſians had taken poſſeſſion of the city of Warſaw, which had cauſed a very great conſternation among the inhabitants there.

BOSTON, JULY 9.

We don't find in the London Prints of the 14th of May any further Intelligence from Belleiſle, than is already publiſhed; but we hear that one of the Maſt-ſhips, which came out under Convoy of the Cheſterfield, and which is arrived at Piſcataqua, on her paſſage ſpoke with a Cutter, bound from Belleiſle to England, with Advice that the Britiſh Troops had taken Fort-Palais Sword in Hand.---Which Report, with the following Extract of a Letter that came in Captain Allen, makes it probable that the whole Iſland is ſubjected to his Britannic Majeſty.

Extract of a Letter from Liverpool, May 22, 1761.

"There were private Letters To-day, which mention Fort-Palais, in Belleiſle, was taken by Storm:---That we loſt a Number of Men, and paid dearly for it. A Confirmation of this Piece of News is impatiently waited for."

Yeſterday arrived here Captain Cochran, in a Schooner from Newfoundland, who informs that a French Frigate had been cruiſing there, and taken ſeveral Veſſels belonging to Newfoundland, which were ranſomed. In Captain Cochran came a Perſon who belonged to a Letter of Marque Ship, owned in Briſtol, and ſailed from Ireland in the Spring, bound for Newfoundland; which Ship was attacked five Days after ſhe left Ireland, by a French Privateer, and by ſome Means one of the Enemy's Granadoes got into her Magazine, which blew her up, whereby the whole Crew were blown up, except five. The Captain of her was -------- Melone, and the Souls on board were 212 in Number.

July 13. Yeſterday arrived here Captain Morton, in a Brig from Halifax, by whom we learn, that two Ships and a Snow, with Part of Colonel Thwing's Regiment of Provincials, were arrived there in five Days from this Place.

Extract of a Letter from St. Euſtatia, June 16, 1761.

"The 6th Inſtant, Commodore Douglaſs went with his Ships, and a Number of Troops under Lord Rollo, before Roſeau, in Dominico, and demanded of the Inhabitants to lay down their Arms, and receive an Engliſh Garriſon, which they refuſed to accept: Lord Rollo then landed with his Men, took Poſſeſſion of the Place, and abandoned it to three Days Plunder by the Soldiers, by which Means you may imagine but little was left in the Town after. The French Commandant, with two others of the leading Men, are on board our Ships, and are to be ſent to Europe. The Inhabitants are to tarry there, and become Engliſh Subjects. It is thought they will proceed to all the Neutral Iſlands, and do the ſame; alſo to the Granades.

"A Tranſport from New-York, with 200 Soldiers and 24 Women on board, was laſt Week taken juſt going into Guadaloupe, and carried into Martinico, by two 10 Gun Sloops.---There is no Exchange of Priſoners on either Side; the Engliſh ſend all to Europe, and the French keep all in Goal."

Thurſday laſt a Snow arrived at Salem, in 17 Days from St. Euſtatia, in whom came Paſſenger Captain Hall, of this Town, who was taken on his Paſſage from hence for Surinam, and was put on board a Dutchman bound to St. Euſtatia, from whence he came in the above Snow: He informs, that the giving up Dominico to the Plunder of the Soldiers, was occaſioned by their making Reſiſtance to our Troops landing, whereby 30 of them were killed.

Laſt Saturday ſe'nnight was ſent into New-London the Prize ſloop St. Barnabas, Michael Gould, maſter, taken off Cape Roſe, near the Bite of Leoganne, the 20th of May, by the captains Tucker and Biſhop, in two St. Kitts privateers: She was bound from Jamaica to Port-au-Prince, laden with wine, cheeſe, &c.

By captain Folger we have intelligence, that juſt before he left London there were orders ſent to the ſeveral commanders of men of war, at their ſeveral ſtations in the Weſt-Indies, to forbid the interrupting any further the trade to Monto-Chriſti, or the capturing any veſſel on that trade: Which orders captain Folger imagines are in the Weſt-Indies before this time.---He further informs, that the trade to Monto-Chriſti was now free and open; and that he ſaw the clearances of divers veſſels from London for that port, with ſeveral ſorts of proviſions.---He adds, that it was the opinion of the principal gentlemen, that thoſe veſſels which have been taken on that trade, and condemned during the war with France, would be cleared.

Portſmouth, in New-Hampſhire, July 10.

Laſt Sunday arrived here the St. George maſt-ſhip, capt. Mallard, who left Torbay the 25th of May, in company with two other maſt-ſhips, Darling and Hugget, who were bound to Caſco-bay: Alſo twelve merchantmen came out with them, bound to the Northward, under convoy of his Majeſty's ſhip Cheſterfield, capt. Scarfe. In a print of the 21ſt of May, which came by capt. Mallard, is a particular account of the ſiege of Belleiſle; and juſt before he ſailed, a cutter arrived and confirmed a report, that the whole iſland was ſurrendered. A congreſs was to be held the 22d of June at Augſbourg.

NEW-YORK, JULY 16.

Tueſday laſt the Ship Friendſhip, Captain Brookbank, arrived here in 32 Days from Morant Bay, in Jamaica. Soon after Capt. Brookbank left Jamaica, he was boarded by a Boat from his Majeſty's Ship the Hampſhire, of 50 Guns, the Lieutenant of which informed him, that the Hampſhire had lately fallen in with and taken a French Man of War of 74 Guns, in the Bite of Leoganne, very richly laden with Sugar, Coffee, Indigo, &c. &c. bound from Port au Prince to Old-France, and ſent her to Jamaica. 'Tis ſaid there was an immenſe Quantity of Indico, &c. put on board this Ship, as the Enemy had great Dependence upon her outſailing any of our Ships of War, ſhe being eſteemed one of the beſt going Ships in the French Navy. Admiral Holmes, it is imagined, was on board the Hampſhire.

Captain Brookbank further informs us, that on the 4th of July, in Lat. 31. 24. he ſaw a Wreck, which appeared to be a new Sloop, with her Stern and Quarters painted green. She had a Windlaſs quite new, and ſteer'd in her Cabbin. He endeavoured, but could not diſcover from whence ſhe came. He imagines ſhe had not then been long in that Condition.

July 20. Saturday Evening Capt. Ptolemy arrived here in 16 Days from Antigua, and brings an Account, that his Majeſty's Ship Repulſe of 20 Guns, had lately carried in there a Ship of 20 Guns, from Martinico to Old-France, loaded with 900 Hogſheads of Sugar; but that ſhe was taken under Neapolitan Colours; that the Governor of Dominico was ſent to England; that the Tranſports that lately ſailed from hence for Guadaloupe, were laid up till the Hurricane Months were over, when it was not in the leaſt doubted but that the Siege of Martinico would be undertaken, and that it was the general Opinion of the French themſelves the Iſland muſt fall, as they had not received any Supplies of Men from France as was currently reported; that the Martinico Privateers had very bad Succeſs of late, our Men of War being very vigilant on their ſeveral Stations.

Captain Jones from this Port for the Weſt-Indies is taken and carried into Cape-Francois.

SEMINARIES of LEARNING, have always been highly regarded in every polite and free Nation; and the College of New-Jerſey (without pretending to any Superiority above other Inſtitutions of the like Kind) has been ſo well approved of, as tending to advance Religion and uſeful Learning, that it has been a Favorite Object of public Charity, both in Great-Britain and America, from its firſt Foundation: But, notwithſtanding the generous Donations made to this laudable Undertaking, the great and neceſſary Expences that have accrued, render the preſent State of the Fund altogether inadequate to the Execution of the original and extenſive Deſigns of the Truſtees. In order, therefore, to enable them to carry on the uſeful and important Purpoſes they have in View (and having at preſent no other Reſource) the following Scheme of a LOTTERY is preſented to the Public; and it is hoped, that ſince Lotteries of a leſs public Nature have been countenanced, this will meet with Encouragement, from all who are Well-wiſhers to the Intereſts of Virtue and Learning.

Whitehall, May 1. This day the Marquis of Granby was ſworn of his Majeſty's moſt Hon. Privy Council, and took his place at the board.

May 5. The Lord Anſon tranſport, lying off the Red-houſe, Deptford, which was formerly the old Centaur man of war, the laſt of ſix large tranſports to carry 1800 ſoldiers, with ſix months proviſions, is ordered to ſail forthwith for Portſmouth, to receive the troops on board, and join the convoy; but upon what ſervice not known.

The following is the ſubſtance of a letter from Berlin, dated April 17. "The King, always attentive to what may promote the happineſs of his ſubjects, and moved with the diſtreſſes of Europe in general, and Germany in particular, has agreed to the holding of a congreſs at Augſbourg; but at the ſame time that he agreed to this congreſs, he ſignified to the foreign miniſters reſiding here, that it depended on the Empreſs Queen alone to put an End to the War, that deſolates the greateſt Part of Europe; that, for his part, being unwilling to retard the re-eſtabliſhment of the public peace, he was ſtill ready to reſtore to her the greateſt part of Sileſia, which he had offered in 1759, being perſuaded that her Majeſty, touched with the effuſion of innocent blood, would be ſatisfied with ſuch a ſacrifice; but if her Majeſty claimed not only the whole of that duchy, but alſo an indemnification for the King of Poland, he would employ the power, which God had put into his hands, to aſſert his juſt rights, and defend his dominions; and the Empreſs Queen alone would be anſwerable for the torrents of blood that ſhould ſtill be ſpilt."

Three Martinico ſhips, and three French Turkey ſhips are taken.

The French Ambaſſador at Stockholm has preſented to the Diet a Memorial, wherein he makes a great parade of the fine Diſpoſitions of all the belligerant powers for putting an end to the war, but at the ſame time ſets forth, "How neceſſary it is, in circumſtances ſo important, to reinforce the Swediſh army, and to put it in a ſtate to purſue its operations efficaciouſly, as the only means of advancing the negotiations at the intended congreſs."

There has been a deſperate engagement in the canal of Malta, between ſix Malteſe veſſels, and five of Tripoli, wherein two of the latter were ſunk, and one, of 20 guns, taken.

May 9. They write from Hamburgh, that on the 21ſt ult. a Pruſſian detachment came to demand a contribution of 80,000 crowns from the town of Jever, ſituated in the county of Oldenbourg, belonging to the Prince of Anhalt-Zerbſt; notice of which was immediately ſent to the King of Denmark, to whom Oldenbourg belongs.

They write from Vienna of the 18th ult. that they had a certain account, that Gen. Laudohn had an army of 35,000 men under his command in Sileſia; and that 30,000 Ruſſians were traverſing Poland to join him, after which junction they would be able to face the King of Pruſſia.

An order is ſent from the Lords of the treaſury to the officers of the mint, to coin 100,000l. in 7s. pieces of gold, on a dye of his preſent Majeſty.

M. de Buſſey, firſt clerk of the department for foreign affairs, is expected here from France, to execute a commiſſion previous to the meeting of the congreſs.

All the general officers, and others, who were at Paris, were ordered to ſet out the firſt week in this month for their corps in Germany.

We hear that eight Men more will, in a few days, be draughted out of each company in the three regiments of foot guards, in order to be ſent to Germany.

May 12.

They write from Bruſſels of the 4th, that the reiterated enterprize of the Engliſh upon Belleiſle, juſt at the time that a congreſs was agreed on, and they were treating about a proviſional ſuſpenſion of arms, ſeemed to have alienated the pacific diſpoſition of the court of France; and that a courier, whom the Duke de Choiſeul diſpatched on the 24th ult. to the Prince de Gallitzin the Ruſſian ambaſſador at London, was charged with a letter to that Lord, praying him to inform the Britiſh Miniſtry, that their manner of proceeding, in the preſent circumſtances, was not very proper to eſtabliſh the confidence which muſt be the baſis of all negociations; and the ſaid courier's diſpatches, they further ſay, tended to determine definitively, whether, during the holding of the future congreſs, the operations ſhould be continued, or a ſuſpenſion of arms take place before the 15th of May.

A very grand Equipage is preparing for Lord Egremont, who goes as one of his Majeſty's Plenipotentiaries to the congreſs of Augſbourg. A fine ſtate-coach is making, and near finiſhed, and there are purchaſed three ſetts of the fineſt horſes that England can produce.

Some fine braſs cannon, of very light weight, are finiſhed in the Tower, and preparing to be ſent into Germany. There are likewiſe two grand pieces, forty-two pounders, now curiouſly engraved, with the arms and titles of his preſent Majeſty, with many curious devices, and the arms of Lord Ligonier.

Eight beautiful horſes, all brought up in this kingdom, are now training up here for the uſe of General Yorke, in his embaſſy to the congreſs at Augſbourg.

Next month a fine new ſhip of 90 guns will be launched at Woolwich, and will be named the Blenheim or Marlborough.------It is an exceeding fine ſhip, and two feet longer than the Royal George.

It is ſaid ſeveral officers of the cuſtoms in London, who have accepted of ſuperior places in the Cuſtom-houſe at Quebec, together with many private families, a reinforcement of troops, and a great quantity of military ſtores, will ſhortly ſail for that place; as will ſeveral other families and ſtores for Guadaloupe.

An order is iſſued to take an account of all the ſhipping in the river now in ballaſt.

St. JAGO DE LAVEGA (Jamaica) May 30.

On Tueſday arrived from a Cruize his Majeſty's Ship Trent, John Lindſay, Eſq; Commander, and brought in with her a French Polacca, outward bound, with a Cargo of Wine and Dry Goods.

The ſame Day arrived the Brigantine Prince of Wales, from Virginia, which was taken in her Paſſage by a French Privateer, of ſix 9 Pounders, 12 Swivels, and 60 Men. Nine Frenchmen were put on board the Brig, to conduct her into the Cape: But Mr. Archdecon, of Kingſton, who with two other Engliſhmen were left Priſoners on board, took a favourable Opportunity of attacking the nine Frenchmen, and quickly obliged them to take to the Boat, then gave them ſome Proviſions, and made Shift to navigate the Brig ſafe into Port, after ſhe had been five Days in Poſſeſſion of the Enemy.

June 6. On Sunday arrived the Othello, Cappee, from Africa; and the Hawk Private Ship of War, Capt. Brown, from a Cruize, having taken ſeveral Prizes.

June 20. Laſt Saturday arrived in a Flag of Truce from Hiſpaniola, Captains Hamilton, of the Lady Juliana, Creichton, of the Shirley, Deverſon, of the Thomas, belonging to London; Captains Whitlow, of the Cunliffe, and Cook, of the Brig George, belonging to Liverpool; being Part of the laſt Fleet from Cork, taken by two French Frigates, of 32 and 34 Guns, off Porto Rico, the 20th of April laſt, and carried into Port Louis.

Alſo came down in the ſaid Flag of Truce, Capt. Keiling, of the Snow Prince Ferdinand, belonging to New-York, taken coming from Coracoa by a French Privateer of 14 Guns. And Capt. M'Gulpin, Commander of a Carolina Veſſel.

The abovementioned Veſſels from Cork were unloaded by the French at Port Louis with the utmoſt Diſpatch, and their Impatience to make ſpeedy Sale of the Cargoes, induced them to ſell Meſs Beef, Tongues, &c. at a Piſtole a Barrel; being, it is ſaid, in great Fear of ſome of our Men of War going in there.

On the 3d Inſt. ſailed from Port Louis, two French Ships of the Line, and the two Frigates abovementioned, deeply laden with Indico for Old France: They cruized off the Port all Day, and in the Night bore away. Many Perſons have conjectured, that theſe Veſſels intend to intercept our Fleet homeward bound, of whoſe preciſe Time of ſailing they long had Notice. The French Commodore communicated in Confidence to a Gentleman ſince arrived here, that he had Orders to cruize in the North-American Paſſage ſix Weeks. This, however, is looked upon as a Fineſſe, and it is ſuppoſed that they went round the Cape to join other Veſſels ready to ſail, and would make the beſt of their Way home, without looking for Prizes, as they were ſo deeply laden.

On Tueſday arrived at Port Royal his Majeſty's Ship the Centaur, Arthur Uſher, Eſq; Commander, and brought in with her a French Ship, named the Sainte Anne, pierced for 60, but carrying 40 Guns, with 350 Men; taken by the Hampſhire and Centaur on Sunday laſt, bound from Petit Guave to Breſt, laden with Sugar, Indico, &c. eſteemed worth 80,000l.

CHARLES-TOWN, in South-Carolina, June 27.

No Advices have been received from the Army commanded by Colonel Grant ſince the 13th Inſtant, which were dated the 5th: But there are ſome Letters this Week from Fort Prince George, and of the 12th, which mention the whole croſſing Keeowee River, and marching forward, early in the Morning on the 7th (Lieut. Col. Laurens with them) leaving there only 120 Invalids, in Lieu of the old Garriſon, with Capt. John Campbell, of Col. Burton's; ſince which no more Intelligence had been received from or concerning them, than if there was no Army in the Country, altho' ſome Cherokees daily paſſed and repaſſed to and from the Fort, where Capt. Mackintoſh ſtill commands. The Indians who ſurrendered themſelves, and obtained Col. Grant's Permiſſion to plant at Keeowee, remained quiet there; they exceeded 100, with very few Men amongſt them, but the Tale of Eſtatowih was of the Number.

Twelve Indians, ſaid to be Creeks, are juſt come to Town, but their Errand is ſuppoſed to be of no Conſequence. Perhaps they are only come in Expectation of ſome Preſents, which is the general Buſineſs of that Nation.

Col. Byrd, with 1000 effective Men, beſides Officers, is ſaid to have marched the 15th of laſt Month from Auguſta County in Virginia, to meet Col. Grant in the Cherokees Country.

Laſt Sunday Afternoon ſailed from this Bar for England, his Majeſty's Ship the Dolphin, commanded by Benjamin Marlowe, Eſq; with the Fleet under Convoy.

Capt. Marlowe would have waited off the Bar till Monday Evening for the reſt of the Veſſels intended to go under his Convoy, but a hard Gale of Wind at E. N. E. riſing Sunday Noon, and the Weather appearing very wild, it became unſafe for the Ships already out to lie there any longer, and he was obliged to proceed with them. This Gentleman's whole Conduct ſince his firſt Arrival here; the extraordinary Care he took of the Veſſels that came out with him from England; and the ready Aſſiſtance he conſtantly gave the Trade upon every Occaſion, deſervedly procured him the Eſteem of every Perſon of Conſideration in the Place: More is undoubtedly due to his Merit, than this public Notice of it, but That is left to the Gentlemen in Trade.

July 4. The Indians who came to Town laſt Saturday are ſtill here; they are Creeks.----For want of an Interpreter their Buſineſs is not known.

July 11. Letters received from Auguſta, dated the 30th ult. adviſe, that moſt of the Chicaſahs who went from thence in April and May laſt, to join the Army commanded by Colonel Grant, on the preſent Expedition againſt the Cherokees, had returned thither ſome Days before, and brought in two Indian Scalps, which they pretended to have got by ſurprizing a ſmall Town in the Cherokee Nation: And that they reported as follows, "That on the fourth Day of the Army's March from Keeowee (ſay 10th of June) they were attacked by the Cherokees, who fired upon them, unſeen, from Morning till Noon, killed 24 Men, and wounded 55 more; but that the Rangers being ordered to ſurround the Place whence the Smoke was perceived to iſſue; moſt of the Cherokees in that Ambuſcade were either cut to Pieces by them, or trampled to Death by their Horſes: That upon this the reſt of the Cherokees fled, and were purſued by Colonel Grant, who had burnt ſeven Towns in the Middle-Settlements, deſtroyed all the Proviſions he found, and turned the Horſes into the Fields to eat up the growing Corn: That they remained with the Army three Days after the Action, during which there had been no Firing on either Side; and that Colonel Grant was preparing to move forward."

According to the ſame Letters, it was no longer a Doubt by whom Thompſon the Trader was killed, near Butler's Creek. Two Lower Creeks, of the Cowetas, committed that Murder, and carried the Plunder openly into their Towns. The Young Twin's elder Brother, by extra Wife of Malatchia, was one of them; the other was a Fellow who, about the Time of Thompſon's ſetting out from Auguſta, had the Impudence to bring back the ſtolen Beaſt, and demanded a conſiderable Reward; which Mr. Rae refuſing to give, and cauſing the Horſe to be taken next Day, the Indian went away in a very ill Humour. On his Return, he, with the Twin's Brother, met with Thompſon, killed him, and took his Goods; and on his Arrival in the Coweta Town, publickly declared, that he had committed the Murder and Robbery, by Way of taking Satisfaction for the Affront he had received. The bringing the Plunder openly into the Coweta Town, obliged the Headmen to take ſome Notice of it, which otherwiſe they probably would have avoided; and accordingly, we hear, they have ſent a Talk either here or to Georgia, expreſſing great Concern at what had happened, terming it the Iſſue of a drunken Frolick, and deſiring it may be paſſed over and forgot, and that the Trade may be kept open and continued as uſual.------One Letter mentions, that the Young Twin being informed of this Affair at Mr. Galpin's, at Silver-Bluff, immediately diſpatched two Fellows to the Cowetas, to put the Murderer to Death------if they chuſe to catch him.

Laſt Sunday Morning an Expreſs arrived from Fort Prince George, with Letters dated the 28th ult. confirming the Accounts which had been received the Day before from Auguſta, with little Variation. Theſe mention 20 Chicaſahs and two Catawbas returning thither from the Army on the 15th, and reporting there nearly the ſame as at Auguſta; but obſerve, that the Scalps they had were more likely to be thoſe of two Cherokees, who had croſſed Keeowee River a few Hours before they arrived, and in the Way that they came. At Fort Prince George they had heard nothing of the Army ſince it moved from thence, but what the Indians reported; and from their Reports it was ſuppoſed there had been ſome Skirmiſh, at the Beginning of which theſe People ran away. The ſame Letters aſſure, that Colonel Grant had upwards of 40 Days Proviſion with him, for a greater Number of Men than the Army conſiſted of; and intimate, that no News from his Head-Quarters was expected in leſs than ten Days. It was ſuppoſed, that after deſtroying the Towns in the Middle-Settlements, Colonel Grant would proceed to the Valley, and deſtroy the Towns and Proviſions there.

B O S T O N, JULY 20.

We hear from Halifax, that on the 22d and 23d of laſt Month, His Majeſty's Forces in Garriſon there, with the Corps of Engineers, and that Part of the Provincial Troops lately arrived from Boſton, encamped on the Common and the neighbouring Ground, to be ready for proceeding on His Majeſty's Works.

We hear from Newport, Rhode-Iſland, That on Thurſday laſt a ſorrowful Accident befel a poor labouring Man on board a Veſſel where they were hoiſting out Sugars, a Hogſhead ſlipt from the Tackle juſt as they were receiving it from the Veſſel on the Wharff, ſtruck the poor Man on the Breaſt, and ſo bruiſed him, that he expired in one Hour after.

Laſt Thurſday Afternoon arrived here the Cheſterfield Man of War of 50 Guns, Capt. Scarſe, with two large Storeſhips from England:---The Cheſterfield left Torbay the 25th of May, having under her Convoy three Mail Ships, the above Storeſhips, and 10 or 12 ſail of other Veſſels bound to North-America; and Yeſterday the Man of War with one of the Storeſhips ſailed for Halifax, the other, it is ſaid, is bound to New-York.

A Veſſel arrived at Charleſtown laſt Friday in 16 Days from Newfoundland: She brings Advice, that Mr. Winthrop had a fine Obſervation of the Tranſit of Venus the 6th of June laſt.

We hear that the Maſſachuſetts Sloop, on board of which was Mr. Winthrop, was arrived at Halifax, on her Return from Newfoundland.

The General Aſſembly of the Colony of Rhode-Iſland have paſſed an Act for enquiring into the rateable Eſtates of that Colony.---The Valuation to be taken nearly in the ſame Manner as lately done in this Province; with this Difference, that every Inhabitant is to give in an Account of all the Money they have by them, and all wrought Plate; alſo the Number of Acres of unimproved Land:---All Veſſels that are abroad, only one Third Part of the Number of Tons, and one Third Part of their Cargoes to be given in.

ANNAPOLIS (in Maryland) JULY 16.

One Day laſt Week, as Mrs. Hearn, who lived in Worceſter County, was ſtanding near the Chimney of her Houſe, in the Time of a Thunder Guſt, making Punch for ſome Reapers, a Flaſh of Lightning came down the Chimney, and ſtruck her inſtantaneouſly dead.

Laſt Wedneſday the Ship Fiſhbourn, Capt. Ethrington, lying in Patuxent, was ſtruck with Lightning. The Main-top-gallant Maſt was tore to Pieces, the Main-top Maſt much ſplit, and the Main-maſt wounded in 6 or 8 Places, and three of the Men ſtunned, but they ſoon recovered.

N E W - Y O R K.

July 23. Laſt Monday Afternoon the Top of the Steeple of the new Dutch Church in this City, was ſtruck with Lightning, which beat off ſome of the Shingles in the crooked Courſe of its Direction, and ſet the Building on Fire, but it was immediately extinguiſhed, and the Damage was very inconſiderable. It is ſaid this is the third time this Church has been ſtruck with Lightning---probably occaſioned by its Situation.

The ſame Evening a Farmer's Barn, near Ten Mile Run, in New Jerſey, with a conſiderable Quantity of Wheat, and other Grain, being all his Harveſt, was ſet on Fire by the Lightning, and intirely conſumed. Alſo a Houſe was ſtruck near Hell-Gate, which ſplit a Beam in the Cellar, but no Perſon was hurt.

The ſame Day the Sloop Marquis of Granby, Captain Smith, arrived here in about four Weeks from Quebec, with Cloathing for General Amherſt's Regiment. By him we have an Account of three Men of War and a Tender cruiſing in the River, off the Harbour's Mouth.

July 27. Thurſday laſt Capt. ROBERT ROGERS embarked for South-Carolina, to take upon him the Command of Capt. Demere's Company of Rangers.

A Letter from Dominica, dated June 11, 1761.

"Lord Rollo, in the Sutherland, with our Tranſports, one of the Highlanders, and one of the Royal Welch, arrived at Guadaloupe the 3d Inſtant, which was the Place of Rendezvous; and the next Day we were ordered for this Place, with three Men of War, and 300 Men of the 4th Regiment from Guadaloupe, to take Poſt here, which we did on Saturday laſt, with the Loſs of two Men killed, and four wounded."

Friday laſt Part of the 40th Regiment came down from Albany, and encamped on the Eaſt End of Staten-Iſland. As did alſo Part of the Firſt Battalion of Royal-Americans. And,

On Saturday another Body of his Majeſty's Forces came down from Above, and encamped at the ſame Place.

We learn by Letters from Albany, that Sir William Johnſon was to ſet out for Fort De Troit about the Firſt Inſtant, the better to confirm the Indians there in his Britannick Majeſty's Intereſt.

Part of a Letter from on board the Letter of Marque Brig Porgy, Capt. Baſſet, of Philadelphia, dated Bermuda, June 26, 1761.

"We were obliged to put in here the 22d Inſtant, to refit, having been tore almoſt to Pieces by a French Privateer Sloop of 12 Guns, and 120 Men, on the 12th paſt, about 25 Leagues S. E. by S. from Cape-Henlopen: At Seven o'Clock in the Morning we engaged each other (the Sea ſmooth, and light Wind) which continued till near Twelve, when Monſieur found himſelf obliged to ſheer off, conſiderably damaged, which we could obſerve, beſides her being a long Time before ſhe was able to make ſail. After the firſt Broadſide, the Frenchman hoiſted his bloody Flag, and fought under it the whole Time; three Hours of which was within Biſcuit Chuck, A great Number of Shot went through our Sides, our Sails and Rigging being like Ribbons, notwithſtanding which we had but one Man wounded, and he is likely to recover, out of only 16 that were our Complement.----We ſail from hence the firſt of July."

Quarto, and neat Pocket BIBLES, with the Scots Pſalms, to be ſold by DAVID HALL.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.

Saturday next, we hear, his Honour the GOVERNOR ſets out for Eaſton, in order to hold a Treaty with the Indians; where there are a great Number of the Onondagoes, Cayugas, Nanticokes, Conoys, Tuteloes, Mohiccons, Shawaneſe, and Delawares.

Tueſday laſt arrived here the Royal Anne, Captain Canton, from Bermuda, with whom came Paſſenger Capt. Robinſon, late of the Sloop Betſy, of Wilmington, bound to St. Chriſtophers, but was taken the 23d ult. by a Brig of 10 Guns, in Lat. 35: 37 N. Long. 71: 38 W. which Brig was taken by a French Sloop of 14 Guns, and made a Privateer of by her. They had before taken Captain Scott, in a Ship from Glaſgow to Norfolk in Virginia. And ſome Days after they took Capt. Cooper, in a Sloop from Madeira for Bermuda, and a Sloop for Rhode-Iſland from the ſame Place; alſo a Schooner from Rhode-Iſland for Jamaica; which they unloaded, and gave to the Priſoners, in which they went to Bermuda. Into the Rhode-Iſland Sloop the Enemy put eight Frenchmen, and left four of her own Hands on board, who took an Opportunity of killing ſix of the French, and wounded the other two ſo badly, that they got Poſſeſſion of the Veſſel, and were returning with her, but unluckily fell in with the Privateer they had been taken by, which obliged them to take to their Boat, and in it they got ſafe to Bermuda, after being five or ſix Days at Sea, and little or nothing to eat, having thrown every Thing overboard, in order to lighten her, being cloſly purſued by the Privateer's Barge, which kept a conſtant Fire upon them from their Small Arms.

Captain Gould, from Halifax, left that Place the Twelfth Inſtant, in Company with his Majeſty's Ship Greyhound, for New-York, which had under her Convoy two Ships, a Snow and Sloop, laden with Ordnance Stores.

The Captains Dingee, Miller, Wilſon and Blewer, are arrived at Jamaica from this Port.

From Maryland. The Captains Hoſkins and Morillon, at the ſame Place.

On Tueſday Night came up here Capt. Alboy, in the Sloop Lovely Jane, bound to Madeira from Bermuda, but was taken the Fifth Inſtant, in Lat 32. 33. Long. 63. by a French Privateer Brig, of 14 Guns, and 200 Men, which had alſo taken the following Veſſels, viz. A Sloop from Madeira to St. Chriſtophers; Captain M'Cun, in a Ship from Glaſgow to Virginia; The Snow Lairn, Capt. Caldwell, from Liverpool, and the Snow Nancy, Captain Graham, from Briſtol, both for this Port; A Snow from Maryland for Jamaica, ranſomed; A Sloop from Virginia to Antigua; A Schooner from Virginia; And a Sloop from Rhode-Iſland for Surrinam.---Captain Alboy left the Privateer in Lat. 38. 30. Long. 55. the 14th Inſtant, and brought about Fifty of the People from the different Veſſels with him.----The Sloop fell in with a large Frigate built Letter of Marque Ship, of good Force, from Jamaica, the Captain of which being acquainted with what had happened, and the Briſtol Snow being then, it is ſaid, in Sight, he took Captain Graham and his Hands (15) on board his Veſſel, and bore away, to endeavour to re-take her.

Princetown, New-Jerſey, July 25, 1761.

"Laſt Evening the Reverend Mr. SAMUEL FINLEY, lately elected Preſident of the College of New-Jerſey, with his Family, came to this Town, from his Pariſh in Pennſylvania. He was met by ſeveral of the Inhabitants of this Village, and by the College Officers, a few Miles out of Town, and by them conducted to the Preſident's Houſe, which was prepared for his Reception. From thence, in his Habit of Office, he was attended by the Tutors, and the other Officers, to the College, and introduced into the Great Hall; where the Scholars received him with the greateſt Reſpect. He then aſcended the Deſk, and, after Prayers, made a polite and judicious Speech to the Students, and the other Part of the Audience, convened on that Occaſion.-----From the Character which this Gentleman hath long ſince acquired for Piety, Learning and Affability; and from that Series of Evidence, which he has given of his Capacities as an Inſtructor, added to the univerſal Pleaſure with which he was received, at this Seat of the MUSES; there is the greateſt Reaſon to believe, that the Clouds which have hung over this Seminary of Learning, ſince the Death of its late worthy Preſident, will be happily diſpelled."
